Small Contingent Marches
On Courthouse in Protest

ALLEDALE, S.C. (AP) — mass meeting of about 300 Negroes Tuesday night. They voted to speed up the registration of Negro voters, marched again in Allendale today, but their number had dwindled.

About 75 persons, including several white men and women, marched to the Allendale County Courthouse. The police escort was cut in half. The marchers formed a circle in a clearing, sang hymns and said prayers. There were no incidents.

Mass Meeting
Meanwhile, 50 Negro and white integrationists remained in jail at Orangeburg, 35 miles north of here. They were arrested Tuesday after staging a courthouse sit-in to protest that Negro voters were being registered too slowly.

Plans for today's march in Allendale were mapped at a

Showdown Expected on Dirksen Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate showdown is expected today on Sen. Everett M. Dirksen's move to bypass the Supreme Court's one-man, one-vote reapportionment decision.

Dirksen, the Senate Republican leader, says the outcome is "very iffy."

At stake is a proposed constitutional amendment, of which Dirksen is chief sponsor. It would permit geography and political subdivisions as well as population to be taken into account in apportioning one house of a state legislature if the people approved in a referendum.

The proposed is aimed at overriding the Supreme Court's 1964 ruling that both houses of state legislatures must be apportioned on the basis of population.

With a two-thirds majority required for approval, opponents thought they had enough votes to defeat Dirksen's measure. But they left the way open to filibuster against it if necessary.

Mute Soviet Mars Satellite Still in Order

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Mars satellite, which went deaf and dumb after it took off, apparently continued silent today and official press sources said there was no news about it.

The space capsule, known as Zond-2, was scheduled to pass Mars about the time America's Mariner 4 took its pictures of the planet.

Soon after its launching Nov. 30, 1964, Zond-2 stopped answering signals. Mariner 4 sent back 21 pictures of Mars and other scientific information.

The last official news on the Soviet traveler was given by Soviet scientists May 6 at a scientific conference in Chicago. Gennadi Skuridin said solar cells evidently failed to recharge the power source.

RAF Makes Error in Identification of Craft

FALMOUTH, England (AP) — The Royal Air Force reported today that its patrols were wrong in identifying a small sailboat in the Atlantic as Robert Manry's Tinkerbell.

Examination of reports of the sighting Tuesday about 400 miles west of Falmouth and south of Ireland cast doubt, and later patrols established that the boat they sighted was similar but had two men aboard.

Manry, 48, a reporter on the Cleveland, Ohio, Plain Dealer, set out alone in his 13½-foot craft June 1 to sail 3,200 miles from Falmouth, Mass., to Falmouth, England.

$1.7 Billion Additional Asked for Viet Nam War

Proposal Includes Plan
To Increase Armed Forces
By About 340,000 Men

By EDWIN B. HAANKINSON
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration disclosed plans today to increase the nation's fighting forces by 340,000 and asked for $1.7 billion in additional emergency defense funds.

Both steps are primarily because of the Viet Nam situation. However, the increased manpower does not mean the prospective dispatch of that many additional men to Viet Nam.

President Johnson asked Congress for the $1.7 billion "to increase our military strength in Viet Nam."

Manpower Buildup
Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara outlined the proposed manpower buildup in testimony to a closed Senate appropriations hearing.

McNamara told the senators that the Communist Viet Cong now hold the initiative in Viet Nam.

But he predicted that South Viet Nam, with the aid of additional U.S. fighting forces, will win in the long, hard pull ahead.

Both the President and his defense secretary asked blanket authority for spending the new $1.7 billion emergency funds. McNamara made it clear that much larger detailed requirements will be waiting for the new session of Congress in January.

340,000 Increase
The 340,000 increase in the armed forces proposed by McNamara would lift them to 2,980,000 men by next June 30.

In his original budget proposal for this fiscal year McNamara recommended a year-end strength for the army of 953,000, navy of 235,000, the navy up 35,000 from 685,000; Marines up 30,000 from 193,000 and the Air Force up 4,000 from 89,000.

Actual strength as of June 3 this year, the latest report by the Pentagon, totaled 2,653,861. That was composed of 969,127

And sources in Palermo, Sicily, said four men are still free. All are believed to be in the United States.

The sources said Palermo police were contacting the FBI for help in completing the roundup.

A Justice Department spokesman in Washington said the U.S.-Italian extradition treaty makes no provision for such action.

He said the Italian government must seek authority from the State Department to let Italian representatives go to court in this country to seek a

Voting Rights Bill Is Nearer Final Approval

Bill Provides for Appointment of Federal Registrars

WASHINGTON (AP) — The voting rights bill, providing the strongest means yet for assuring Negroes access to the ballot box, was only a step today from final congressional approval. That step seemed certain to be taken Thursday.

The Senate has the final say and a leader of the opposition there said he knows of no plans for any concerted action against it by his fellow Southerners.

"If I thought I could defeat the bill, I'd try," Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., said in an interview.

Debate Shut Off

But Ellender recalled that a two-thirds majority had voted in May to shut off debate on the original version of the bill and only a simple majority now is needed for approval of the compromise version before the Senate.

The House passed the measure Tuesday, 328 to 74, after brief debate in which a few objections contended the measure had been weakened unduly. But sponsors said it is tough and effective and the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., a civil rights leader, was quoted as urging prompt enactment.

The legislation, certain to be signed by President Johnson when it reaches him, provides for special federal examiners to be sent into states and voting districts with less than 50 percent of voters registered to take over registration; suspends literacy tests in Alabama, Alaska, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, South Carolina, Virginia, 34 counties of North Carolina and one county each of Arizona, Idaho and Maine; and directs the attorney general to challenge in court the constitutionality of poll taxes in state and local elections.

8 State Congressmen Vote With Majority On Voting Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Eight Wisconsin congressmen voted with the majority Tuesday as the House passed the voting rights bill 328-74.

Republican Reps. John W. Byrnes, Alvin E. O'Konski and Vernon Thomson joined the five Wisconsin Democrats — Robert W. Kastner, John A. Race, Henry S. Reuss, Lynn E. Stalbaum and Clement J. Zablocki — in backing the bill.

Rep. Glenn R. Davis, Republican from New Berlin, was the only Wisconsin congressman to vote against the measure. Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R-Wis., not listed among those voting.

'Paper Tiger' Tested Escalation of War Began 1 Year Ago

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
The "new phase" of the Viet Nam war is a year-old today.

Just a year ago, on Aug. 4, the United States for the first time bombed targets in North Viet Nam and began what the Pentagon would call an escalation process.

What has been the result thus far? Big dangers seem nearer, the frustrations even greater. The path to solution appears as agonizingly elusive as it was before Red North Viet Nam tested the U.S. "paper tiger" and found it had sharp teeth.

Real War

A year ago, the United States had 16,300 troops in South Viet Nam, technically advisers. Now there are 80,000 there, many in active combat. The conflict, in President Johnson's words, has become a real war.

This, actually, is the anniversary of U.S. retaliation against North Vietnamese mainland bases after Communist torpedo boats attacked U.S. warships in the Tonkin Gulf. That began the gradual process by which the United States became deeply committed to war on the Asian mainland.

The United States began regular air attacks on North Viet Nam targets Feb. 7 in an avowed effort to convince the Communists they could not win and to persuade them to go to a conference table.

New Phase
The year of the "new phase" has frayed world nerves. Red China exploded its way into the atomic weapons club. The Soviet Union lost its rambunctious leader, Nikita S. Khrushchev.

Shelton made a one-day visit Monday to inquire about charges against five men arrested in Greenfield for distributing anti-Negro literature. Arrested after the distribution to post office box holders of the Klan newspaper, Fire Cross, they were charged with violating a 1947 state law prohibiting "racketeering in hate."

Bombers Hit Targets Near Red China

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. jet fighter-bombers flew within 30 miles of Red China today on a bombing mission over North Viet Nam, a U.S. military spokesman said.

It was the closest announced strike ever to the Chinese mainland since the United States began bombing Communist targets in North Viet Nam last Feb. 7.

Four U.S. Air Force F105 Thunderchiefs hit a group of railroad cars about 105 miles northwest of Hanoi near the town of Ba Ho, the spokesman said. He reported all returned safely.

Pilots said they dropped nine tons of bombs on the targets and fired 4,000 20 mm cannon shells, damaging 11 box cars.

The closest previous raids to the Chinese border were announced Aug. 1 and July 22 when U.S. warplanes struck the Yen Bai railroad yards, 41 miles away.

Hearing Set on Fluid Milk Price
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department has set its public hearing to consider proposed increases in minimum prices for fluid milk in Wisconsin and five other states for Sept. 13 in Chicago.

The hearing will gather testimony on possible revision of federal milk order regulating 12 Western markets affecting duction totals that they permit. Illinois, Iowa, Indiana, Missouri and Arkansas.

West German Trial
The prosecution told the court Mrs. Walter's activities were reported by Johann Lotz, one of the three defendants in the trial. He has confessed to spying for Israel.

Wife of Archaeologist Charged as Israeli Spy

CAIRO (AP) — The prosecution in the spy trial of three West Germans charged today that Mrs. Walter had been found "spying" in the expert's bedroom.

Same Employer
Lotz realized that the woman was working for the same Israeli organization that employed him to collect information on the German experts. He sent a message by a secret radio, concealed in a set of bathroom scales, protesting that Mrs. Walter was "abusing her activities" and demanding that she be stopped.

The message was sent on June 17, 1964, and the next day Mrs. Walter received instructions and left Egypt.

Lotz faces a possible death sentence on 10 charges of espionage for Israel and terrorism against Germans working in Egypt's military industries. His wife is charged with complicity and a West German businessman, Franz William Knesow, is on trial with them.

Puzzling Story Surrounds Insurance Commissioner

Charles Manson Ruled Eligible, Ineligible for Extended State Term

By JOHN IGLEHART
Associated Press Writer
MADISON (AP) — Charles Manson, state insurance commissioner, has been told he is out of a job and with the announcement another link to a puzzling political story falls in line.

The notice was supported by and it brought to prominence the likelihood that Assemblyman Robert Haase of Marinette, an attorney general's opinion Republican floor leader, will be Manson's successor.

But the change might not come for months.
Atty. Gen. Bronson La Follette issued the opinion Monday only six weeks after he took the position that the 66-year old commissioner could remain despite being past retirement age.
The new ruling was addressed to George C. Kaiser, commissioner of the Department of Administration. It said the insurance commissioner's post would have to be considered vacant in the absence of a "valid extension" of Manson's service.
Manson was appointed to the job by former Gov. Gaylord Nelson and reappointed June 12, 1963 by former Gov. John Reynolds, both Democrats.

Republican Gov. Warren P. Knowles has been looking for a way to replace the insurance commissioner instead of "going through the mill of criticism he would take in firing him," as one source put it.
Haase, who is serving his fifth term in the Legislature, has said he will not be back. His actions over a period of weeks have illustrated his private interest in the insurance commissioner's job.
The 42-year-old bachelor was instrumental in setting the groundwork for an end to Wisconsin's financial stalemate. Respected by Republicans and Democrats alike, Haase set the stage for agreement after a meeting with Gov. Knowles and GOP state chairman Ody Fish of Pewaukee, among others.
Haase fought hard for Knowles' position in party caucuses. When the vote came on the budget-tax bill the 70-28 roll call was evidence he had done a convincing job.

Haase Actions
Another case in point was Haase's actions Friday night at a meeting of the Assembly Rules Committee. A bill was introduced that would boost the salary of the insurance commissioner from $17,000 to $20,000 and Haase, a man who has to be told only once, asked twice: "Who wants the bill introduced?"
Manson requested introduction of the bill and with the necessary background it was apparent that Haase wanted no part of the proposal. The bill also would extend a commissioner's term to six years instead of the present four.
With the legislature returning Oct. 4 it seems improbable that Knowles would appoint Haase before then and lose the floor-leader's services in the fall session.
La Follette left the way open for Knowles to act now on appointment by adding in his opinion that if Knowles make the change during the legislative recess, it is effective immediately.
Term Extended
Manson's second four-year term was to have extended to June 1, 1967. The 1963 Republican-controlled Senate confirmed the Democratic appointee but the action was wiped out through legislative procedure designed to give pay increases to state department heads.
Under the law, raises cannot be granted during a state official's term of office, so the Legislature abolished and re-created the department position. It was a foregone conclusion that there would be no change in personnel.
But in printing the new statute, Manson's term was not extended and the GOP Senate refused to act on another appointment by Reynolds.
Manson reached the legal retirement age of 65 in March, 1964. Reynolds granted him an extension and it was this action that La Follette originally a valid reason for Manson staying on the job.
The Democratic attorney general said a review of the case had led him to the conclusion that the extension by Reynolds was "ineffective."

Rep. Ford Is Johnson's Most Persistent Critic

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — House Republican leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan has been on President Johnson's back more than any top Republican in Congress. Johnson doesn't take persistent criticism lightly.

And Ford apparently was Johnson's target last Sunday when the President cut loose on a Republican he didn't name but accused of leaking information on a White House conference with congressional leaders about Viet Nam.

For most of this year the 52-year-old Ford, Republican House leader since January, said little about Johnson, and most of it was mild. He began getting critical in June and stepped it up in July.

His swipes at the President were far more caustic than anything Johnson has said about Republicans this year. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, the Republicans' Senate leader, has been one of Johnson's greatest helpers.

Got Rough
Ford really got rough last month when the House passed the administration-sponsored civil rights bill on voting after turning down proposals by Ford and another Republican, Rep. William M. McCulloch of Ohio. Johnson, congratulating the Democratic-run House, said the Ford-McCulloch measure would have "seriously damaged and diluted the guarantee of the right to vote for all Americans."

The next day, July 12, Ford and McCulloch fired back in a joint statement that Johnson doesn't like anyone to differ with him, is a "dangerous advocate of one-party government," is a "Lyndon-come-lately" on civil rights, had "traveled a crooked path" in that field, and until 1957 had voted "against civil rights 100 per cent."

Johnson held a news conference the next day. Asked about the Republican comments on his civil rights position, he said he was "particularly sensitive to the problems of the Negro." He said he wanted to do his best in that field "in the limited time that I am allowed. I did not have that responsibility in the years past, and I did not feel it to the extent that I do today. I am going to try to provide all of the leadership that I can, notwithstanding the fact that someone may point to a mistake of 100 mistakes that I made in my past."

Viet Nam Leak
Later in July, Ford urged the President to tell the nation "straight from the shoulder" what this country faces in Viet Nam. He said Johnson revealed "grim news in installments."

And he accused the administration of using a "cynical type of log-rolling" to win House repeal of the federal law which lets states ban union shops. Then last Sunday Johnson exploded. This was the background:

On July 27 Johnson called congressional leaders of both parties to the White House to discuss the decisions he would soon announce on Viet Nam. Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, Senate Democratic leader, made some statements at this which haven't been published yet.

On July 28 at a huge news conference, Johnson told the nation he was sending 50,000 more troops to Viet Nam, and was increasing the draft but was not going to call up the National Guard and the reserves.

Reports on Conference
Ford held what he called an informal background meeting with newsmen. He said this was after the White House meeting with congressional leaders. He didn't say what day but, reportedly, it was July 29. Then there were reports on what was supposed to have happened at that White House conference, such as this: That Mansfield had talked Johnson out of calling up the National Guard and reserves.

When he met with newsmen at his ranch last Sunday, Johnson said a prominent Republican "broke my confidence" and "distorted" what happened. He said Mansfield never mentioned reserves and branded reports that he did "untrue and perhaps malicious." Then he threw this barb:

"Once in a while an inexperienced man or a new one, or a bitter partisan, has to play a little politics. I think they keep it to a minimum, generally speaking, but one or two of them will do it — and boys will be boys."

Ford quickly said he didn't know whom Johnson was talking about and confirmed the President's statement that some prominent Democrats Mansfield had said nothing have been critical of his Viet Nam policies.

NICHOLS—The volunteer fire department was called to the Art Mueller farm, route 1, Black Creek, three miles north of here, at 10:30 a.m. Tuesday to extinguish a fire which had broken out in the loft of a chicken house.

City of Seymour and Seymour East Side firemen were at the scene for nearly four hours.

It is suspected the fire may have started when straw dust came into contact with a light bulb. Straw was being blown into the loft from threshing.

Damage to the building's interior was estimated at $1,000 by fire chief Lester Boman.

again denied he had anything to do with the alleged leak.

"I broke no confidence," he said, and then needed Johnson spring, as at Baylor University in Waco, Tex., agents in cap events, Secret Service men followed just behind whose posts are nearest the President in the academic processions. This clerical and academic attire is something new, since to buy formal clothes or rent killed Kennedy.

Secret Service Men

Fade Into Surroundings

BY DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
WASHINGTON (AP) — The century-old Secret Service has taken on protective coloration, so to speak, in its old age.

One veteran agent on the White House detail has been dubbed "Canon" for clerical garb and not "cannon" for the gun bulging beneath his jacket.

In surplice and cassock, he sat with the choir and blended in with other black and white clad figures when President Johnson attended high school graduation exercises for daughter Luci at Washington National Cathedral.

On a couple of occasions when Johnson delivered college commencement addresses this the assassination of President John F. Kennedy. It typifies an expanded effort by the Secret Service to tighten security, stick close to the President's side everywhere, but still be unobtrusive on ceremonial or similar occasions.

There always has been a measure of attempt to fit into the scene rather than to stand out. When presidents in sports clothes went boating or golfing, agents went along in none of them ever wore an outfit to compare with some of the shrieking suits Harry S. Truman displayed at times at Key West, Fla.

In Formal Attire
For formal, white tie and tails events, Secret Service men turn out in white tie and tails, at considerable personal expense. Either they have worn shirts from behind that them at $12.50 or more for the evening.

Dwight D. Eisenhower was the golfing president. And on golf courses agents accompanied him carrying golf bags stuffed with clubs plus a Tommy gun.

It's impossible for Secret Service men to work under complete secrecy when they have to be on the job before crowds that range at times into the hundreds of thousands.

Sometimes, especially in motorcades similar to the one in which Kennedy was riding when he was shot, they don't try to.

In the open car behind the President, packed with agents and hanging on the running boards that are special equipment for the men with automatic rifles at the ready — rifles that can be seen readily.

Every agent is a practiced marksman. And in the Secret Service car, one of them with a rifle always rides backward now, scanning streets and buildings toward the rear — because it is because it killed Kennedy.

what was supposed to have happened at that White House conference, such as this: That Mansfield had talked Johnson out of calling up the National Guard and reserves.

When he met with newsmen at his ranch last Sunday, Johnson said a prominent Republican "broke my confidence" and "distorted" what happened. He said Mansfield never mentioned reserves and branded reports that he did "untrue and perhaps malicious." Then he threw this barb:

"Once in a while an inexperienced man or a new one, or a bitter partisan, has to play a little politics. I think they keep it to a minimum, generally speaking, but one or two of them will do it — and boys will be boys."

Ford quickly said he didn't know whom Johnson was talking about and confirmed the President's statement that some prominent Democrats Mansfield had said nothing have been critical of his Viet Nam policies.

Consolidated Paper To Build Pulp Mill Costing $20 Million

Sulfite Plant in Appleton Will Continue Operation, Officials Say

WISCONSIN RAPIDS—A multi-million dollar pulp mill will be constructed in Wisconsin Rapids by Consolidated Paper, Inc., it was announced today by Stanton W. Mead, company president. The program was approved Tuesday by the company's board of directors.

Engineering for a 300 ton per day bleached kraft mill will begin immediately. The new plant should be ready for operation in mid-1967. A ground-breaking date has not been set pending completion of detailed engineering plans.

The plant is expected to cost $20 million.

Mill To Operate

The company plans to continue operation of its other sulfite pulp mill at Appleton. "At the outset of our study the possibility of closing this mill was considered but with that plant's preferred position relative to our

$240,000 Structure In Kimberly Will Replace Old Units

KIMBERLY — A building permit to construct a warehouse at an estimated cost of $240,000 was granted to Kimberly-Clark Corporation by Eugene Hietpas, building inspector.

The concrete block and steel structure will be located east of the main plant and incorporate some existing smaller buildings. It will be utilized as a loading dock, warehouse and storage area. Railway tracks leading into the structure will permit loading and unloading of box cars under cover.

The building will incorporate approximately 40,000 square feet of new building and 4,000 square feet of old building.

Excavation for the structure is expected to start within a few days. Village police warn parents of youngsters living on E. Oak and N. Pine streets. Normally traffic on these streets is very light and children often play in the roadway. While excavation for the building is underway, truck traffic will be heavy as dirt is dumped in a ravine area at the end of N. Pine Street. Oak Street will be utilized to reach Pine.

Motorist Leaves Injured Girl At Roadside

A motorist who claimed he didn't want to get involved with a possible traffic victim, is reported to have left a young injured girl lying beside her bicycle on Outagamie County Trunk A Tuesday afternoon, in apparent pain.

County police investigated the reported accident and found nothing.

County authorities received the report from the Appleton Police Department which said a telephone caller, who had talked with the motorist, reported the possible injury.

The caller told Appleton police the driver went past the injured girl without stopping, but watched the victim through his rear view mirror. He then told a friend about the incident, and the friend reported it to police.

"Come on Sister. Bunt! Bunt!"—all we need is one run to win the game! But Sister M. Manette didn't bunt and still won the game for her side at the St. Joseph CYO-sponsored outing for the sisters Tuesday. To make sure there would be no cheating, Sister M. Sybilla umpired the game with a bat in hand while Mike Gregorius acted as catcher and Father Timon Costello, OFM Cap., CYO spiritual director, looked on. About 27 persons attended. # Fine Arts Presentation Will End AHS Summer Session

Art Show, Concert, Dramatics To Climax Enrichment Program

A combined art show, concert and original drama presentation Thursday will climax the 1965 summer session at Appleton High School.

The concert will begin at 7 p.m. on the lawn adjacent to W. Winnebago street, west of the tennis courts. In case of rain the concert will be held in the gym.

The art display will feature work done by the students this summer in an enrichment program. The drama presentations, beginning at 8 p.m., will be in the three-sided Century Theater, constructed on the high school auditorium stage.

The music program under the direction of Jacob Dekker will open with the beginner's orchestra. The group will play five selections.

The second group will be the high school orchestra. This year for the first time, Frank Comella, music coordinator, invited interested townspeople to play with the orchestra, and attracted many adults who play string and wind instruments who have had the opportunity to play with an ensemble.

The beginner's band will include "The Prism," by Mary Ivan Spangenberg. It will present two marches and two waltzes.

The junior band, under the batons of Ralph Rothe and Thomas Jacobs will play four selections.

Police Howl at Proposal to Train Dogs to Ride Shotgun in Squad Cars

Man's best friend was royally roasted by members of the Outagamie County Traffic Department who weren't especially pleased at having canine companions riding shotgun.

To say the least, members weren't "tail wagging happy" about a proposal by Supv. John Schreiter to include training of police dogs to ride as second man in county patrol cars.

Schreiter hit on the proposal during a meeting with the county's executive committee Tuesday. Schreiter is chairman of the county's sheriff and traffic committee.

Report With Leash

One traffic member, early this morning, posted a large sign in the traffic department squad room, "Outagamie County K-9 Corps," and another showed up for duty this morning with hat, gun, badge and . . . a leash.

One patrolman, Edward Metko, off duty today, came to the office with his large German shepherd and small Pekingese dog. He said he wanted to recruit the pair for the corps, but was having a hard time finding application blanks.

Sheriff Calvin Spice, whose official car designation is No. 9, said he was being referred to as "K-9" in radio messages "barked" at him while on patrol by his radio operators.

Traffic men commented, on a more serious note, that the training of dogs, pioneered by some large eastern cities, would be out of the question for rural patrols.

Trained as Team

"Each man would have to have his own dog, and the man and dog would have to be trained as a team," one commented.

Another said that recruitment of dogs has been a problem that large police departments and the armed services have been facing for some time.

If a man left the department, one man said, the dog would have to be dismissed likewise and "rehabilitated" to being a domestic dog.

"These dogs aren't trained just to be companions," one patrolman said. "They are trained as killers."

Dogs Have Their Place

Sheriff Spice said he had no "official" comment to make on the proposal, but said that dogs have their place in police work "on patrols in large cities."

Washington, D.C. has effectively trained police dogs to patrol in dark areas which would be a possible danger to one man. The dog is trained to respond to the nearby patrolman's directions.

Most patrolmen said that an eight-hour shift with a dog seated in the squad car's front seat "would make more problems than we would want."

Although they did not elaborate, the inference that dogs sometimes cannot be man's best friend, was made clear.

Little Chute Beagle Shows New Tree Climbing Talents

LITTLE CHUTE — Some persons say the talents of a handyman are "going to the dogs" in the modern age of specialization.

A year-old pure-bred Little Chute Beagle tried to disprove that belief Monday as she jumped up into a tree and climbed around in its branches, a feat normally reserved for cats.

Buttons, the dog of Mr. and Mrs. James Sweiger, 510 E. Park Ave., proved that the talents of a "handydog" are still useful, as she frolicked with youngsters in a neighbor's tree about 12:30 p.m. Monday.

Jumped Into Tree

John Van Offeren, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Van Offeren, 306 E. Lincoln Ave., reports that he and Rick Vanden Boogart, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Vanden Boogart, 413 E. Lincoln Ave., were "just sitting" in a neighbor's tree when the beagle jumped onto a low-hanging branch about three feet off the ground and then climbed upwards on the limb toward them.

The boys took Buttons back to earth where Joe Zwiers, 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Zwiers, 902 E. Park Ave., was watching. Buttons, however, made like a feline for a second time, and this time a neighbor helped them get the tree-climbing dog down.

Buttons and her litter of 10 pups often play with neighborhood youngsters, according to Mrs. Sweiger. Buttons was believed to be her first tree-climbing experience.

Development Methods For Business Area In Appleton Discussed

Different Views Expressed on Federal Aid for College Avenue

Techniques for redevelopment of Appleton's College Avenue commercial strip and a program for total community development were explained Tuesday night at a Chamber of Commerce meeting.

Malcolm C. Drummond, an associate partner of Harland Bartholomew and Associates, St. Louis, discussed two ways the city could implement an urban renewal clearing project in several blocks on W. College Avenue.

He told the audience an urban renewal project could be carried out with local money or with federal assistance. Drummond stressed that urban renewal "is not a federal program" but a project "initiated by local people." He added that the federal government plays only a minor role through lending financial assistance.

Entire Community

Ronald E. Leigh, north central district manager of the United States Chamber of Commerce presented a plan aimed at studying and alleviating problems in the entire community. The six-point plan he proposed was based on the use of the private enterprise system rather than the use of federal funds.

Prior to explaining the ways a renewal project could be financed, Drummond discussed the reasons why it is necessary for Appleton to maintain a central business district, basing them on the premise that there "must be a strong commercial area to every urban area."

Among reasons Drummond outlined for maintaining a central business area were:

- Investment in the central business district represents nearly $50 million.
- The central business district pays 10.8 per cent of the city's taxes.
- Tremendous Investment
- The city has a tremendous investment in utilities leading into the central part of the city.
- The central district has a broad concentration of activities that are not available in outlying areas.

—Social exchange of businessmen and citizens important part of a community's development (person to person contact). This is not as prevalent in commercial district in outlying areas.

Drummond said that in order to speed up redevelopment, the City of Appleton must improve streets and pedestrian ways; the city and private enterprise must cooperate on meeting parking needs in the downtown area, and businesses must put up new buildings.

Community Action

"In order to implement a urban renewal project, the community must want to do it," Drummond stressed.

"An authority has to be created under the state statutes to handle a site to be cleared, select a site to be cleared."

In Appleton's case, the "most logical place" is the downtown area, he added.

Asked how long it would take for such a project, Drummond replied it would take "two to four years before you can say 'we have the land ready for sale.'"

Drummond said that if the municipality decides to finance the project, it would have to increase the tax rate to absorb the loss incurred by the city through purchase of the sites with the structures and subsequent sale of the open land.

He noted that open land value is much lower than property occupied by buildings.

75 Per Cent Absorbed

If the City of Appleton decides to seek federal assistance, federal aid would absorb 75 per cent of the cost.

Appleton Residents to Vote Sept. 14

Appleton's city attorney, clerk, and treasurer should be appointed rather than elected, the Appleton League of Women Voters overwhelmingly agreed Tuesday.

The league thus became the second group to support a "yes" vote on a Sept. 14 referendum which will give voters the chance to decide whether the three offices and that of assessor should be appointive. The offices are now elective.

The Appleton Taxpayers Association went on record for appointment of the officials five years ago. The league previously took the stand that the assessor should be appointed.

The league also stated that appointment preferably should be made by the mayor with the approval of the council and should be from a competitive examination and evaluation by an independent board or agency, and removal of the officials should be by the council.

Met in Home

The league decisions came at a meeting in the home of Mrs. Jack Weiner, 39 S. Meadows Drive.

If the voters approve appointing the officials, the appointment procedure is stipulated in the charter ordinance adopted by the common council. The league concurs with the positions of the charter ordinance.

Before the board of directors reached a position, a league committee interviewed public officials, students of government, and municipal authorities and consulted numerous books and studies.

Public Meeting

A public meeting was held July 27 to give information to members and answer further questions.

The group decided to work through newspapers, radio and television to inform the public of the reasons for their decision. "We will try to convince the public of our position."

Declares Interest In University Site

Kaukauna Solons Go on Record Favoring School In or Near City

KAUKAUNA — Members of the common council went on record Tuesday night favoring location of a 4-year University of Wisconsin in this area and indicated sewer and water facilities would be extended by the city should the site be within reasonable distance of the city and the property annexed to the city.

Mayor Joseph Bayorgeon questioned whether the council was entering into a bidding contest with surrounding cities to have the school located in the city, but aldermen assured him the offer was merely to let interested parties know that the city sewer and water laterals could be extended into annexed areas.

The council felt additional action by a school site committee and interested citizens within the next few days would provide additional information about location of a 4-year University in the area.

Union Requests

A letter from a representative of the City Employees Local, referred to the board of public works, asked the council to consider negotiation proposals. These include a 10 cents across the board hourly increase in wages, moving workers up from class B to class C on the pay schedule, an additional 5 cents per hour wage for garbage and rubbish collectors, moving workers in class C into the next higher pay scale, four weeks vacation with pay after 20 years service, and the city assuming cost of uniforms for mechanics, garbage and rubbish workers.

Wages of two assistant park workers were increased from $300 to $340 per month, effective Aug. 1, as the two completed a 60-day probationary period. Approval was given to erecting a fence at Hennes playground for $686 and the park superintendent was authorized to attend a

Neenah Man Who Filed Suit Is Found Guilty of Assault

OSHKOSH — A six-man Circuit Court jury Tuesday afternoon found James Hoffman, 33, Neenah, guilty of assault in a civil suit brought by Hoffman against Iloia Laska, 30, Chicago.

The jury ruled the Chicago woman did not commit assault and battery but that Hoffman did. The jury further ruled Hoffman was not justified in his action which happened Aug. 25, 1964, at the Rainbow Bar in Neenah and said Hoffman was activated by malice.

The jury awarded Hoffman medical expense of $184.60 and for her $28, plus $60 loss of wages. The jury also awarded her $25 in punitive damages.

The case was heard Monday and Tuesday before Circuit Judge Arnold J. Cane.

Industrial Site Questioned by Plan Group

Area Recommended For Residential Use

MENASHA — Eugene Franchette, director of the Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission, questioned the wisdom of the location of the new City of Menasha industrial park in the Town of Menasha.

Franchette said the 81.5 acre site was in an area which had been recommended for residential development by the Regional Planning Commission. The entire area east of State 47 had been earmarked for residential use, the planning director said.

"An industrial park is fine," Franchette said, "but the location also is important. Just because the land is vacant and available does not automatically make it a good location."

He said the Regional Planning Commission had been seeking land in the area for a neighborhood park and playground and that many of the homes in the area had been built on the premise the area would develop as residential.

Franchette said the site of the new Central Catholic High School also had partially selected on the basis of residential development in that portion of the town.

He noted the land purchased by the city is not served by a railroad. Industrial park land is available in the area of the Banta Midway plant, he added.

However, city officials indicate they were seeking land which could immediately be annexed and land near the Banta plant is not contiguous to the city.

Appleton City Jail Inspected And Okayed

An inspection July 28 of the Appleton city jail showed it to be excellently cared for, the police department was told today.

V. A. Verhulst, detention supervisor in the division of corrections, State Department of Public Welfare, in a letter to police chief Earl O. Wolff, said: "The jail was found to be in excellent condition in regard to cleanliness, sanitation and appearance, and gave evidence of routine and regular cleaning and care procedures."

Verhulst also noted jail records were kept in accordance with state statutes, and that the office area of the department had been expanded, and booking procedures were carried out of public view.

"I wish to commend the chief and members of the Appleton Police Department for their interest and cooperation in operating and maintaining the Appleton City Jail in accordance with jail standards," Verhulst said.

Twins Cop Via Forfeit; Face All-Star Squad

MENASHA — The Menasha Twins were awarded a forfeit victory over Appleton west when the latter was unable to assemble enough players for a Tuesday makeup game at the Menasha Ball Park.

The triumph gave the Twins a final 10-4 league record, good for no worse than third place.

The Twins are scheduled to meet an Appleton Legion all-star team here at 7 p.m. today. The club will be composed of boys from the Appleton, East and West Legion team, which is scheduled to compete in the Sheboygan Recreation Department tournament next week.

Works Board Declines to Set Street Repaving Policy

Repaving one block of an Appleton street provided considerable discussion Tuesday, but the board of public works declined to set a city policy for similar situations.

Alfred Frederick S. Ziemann, chairman of the board, said the city's cost for turning over and seal paving — about $100,000 — was too high. He said the normal assessment for turning over and seal is about 80 cents a foot, and they would be willing to put on the improved paving for the difference between the cost of the seal coat and the cost of the seal paving job for the street without about 20 cents a foot.

It was suggested that the street to the condition in which board set a city policy to use in it was before the projects were begun.

The matter was complicated, Ziemann said, by the city's desire to upgrade the quality of its streets. Turnover and seal is not considered a permanent paving.

A hot mix blacktop, however, is considered permanent, and turned to the public works being decided over to the city. Federal regulations governing public lands provide that the is-

Appleton Takes Bids On Employee Insurance

Green Bay Agency Criticizes Board for Tailoring Specifications to One Company

Four bids on health and hospitalization insurance for city of Appleton employees were received by the board of public works Tuesday, but it was not clear which was the lowest.

In addition, the board received a letter from an agent for another insurance company criticizing specifications for the insurance as being designed for one company.

Among the bids opened Tuesday afternoon were offers from Wisconsin Physicians Service, Prudential Insurance Co., and two from Blue Cross and Blue Shield. The board is having the bids tabulated so it can study them and make a recommendation to the council.

WSU-O Sets Rain Date for Summer Commencement

OSHKOSH — If the summer commencement exercises at Wisconsin State University-Oshkosh Thursday are forced inside by bad weather, the starting time will be delayed one hour, according to Dr. Stanley Linton, university commencement committee chairman.

Plans call for the exercises to be at Jackson Street field at 6 p.m. on Thursday. However, if bad weather makes an outdoor ceremony impossible, the commencement will be moved inside to the university's Albee Hall and begin at 7 p.m. The move inside would restrict the number of seats available to guests, university officials said.

Twelve master's degrees and more than 250 bachelor's degrees are to be awarded at the Thursday ceremony. Dr. B. J. Chandler, dean of the School of Education at Northwestern University, will deliver the address.

Activity Prices Altered at KHS

Kimberly Unit Tries To Make Program More Sustaining

KIMBERLY — The board of education approved several changes in activity prices for Kimberly High School at a special meeting Monday night.

Changes are designed to help make the program more self-sustaining and eliminate some problems.

Student activity tickets remained at $3.50 and grade admission tickets at 25 cents. Adult season football tickets were eliminated because the number sold last year did not cover the cost of having tickets printed. Adult basketball season tickets were raised from $7.50 to $9.

Admission to Events
The student activity ticket provides admission to four football games, 9 or 10 basketball games, four wrestling matches, the Papermaker Relays and seven lyceum programs. Adult basketball season ticket holders receive a reserved seat for every game and a priority on tickets for a tournament.

The board approved a charge of 25 cents per activity for children from grades four through six. Children under 10 will not be permitted to attend an activity unless accompanied by a parent. Price for them will also be 25 cents. This is to eliminate school personnel serving as "baby sitters" for smaller youngsters not accompanied by parents.

Not Owning Ticket
Junior high school students not holding an activity ticket will be charged 25 cents for a ticket in advance to a specific event, but will be charged $1 if purchased at the door or gate on the evening of the activity.

Eugene Schellhout was named village representative on the board of control of the area 2 Cooperative Education Services Agency with James Kluge as alternate.

Word was received from the State Department of Public Instruction that the school has again been qualified to receive aids at the integrated level for the 1965-66 school year.

Menasha Okays Industrial Park Land Purchase

MENASHA — A temporary loan will be taken by the city of Menasha to finance the $295,000 purchase of 81½ acres in the Town of Menasha for an industrial park.

Aldermen unanimously authorized the loan at its meeting Tuesday night. The loan was necessary because funds for the purchase were not budgeted.

City Atty. Richard Steffens told the common council. The authorizing resolution stated that the loan be taken at an interest rate not to exceed 3½ per cent per year, and that an irrevocable tax be levied for $235,000 as security on the loan.

Making a loan for such purposes is common practice among municipalities, Steffens said. Under state statutes, a municipality, when taking a temporary loan, must levy a tax for the same amount to provide payment of the loan. After receiving the borrowed money, the tax is carried into the next tax roll of the municipality and collected as other taxes are collected, but the proceeds of the tax go into a separate fund for the sole purpose of paying off the temporary indebtedness.

land could be given to the city if the island was existent at the time Wisconsin became a state. The island's area is about 2½ acres.

Who wants the strike at Allis-Chalmers? ... our employes? ... or certain Union leaders?

The strike called by Lodge 747, IAM, against the Appleton Works of Allis-Chalmers is now in its fourth week. Do our employes want this strike to continue? Or, is this what a few Union leaders want?

Allis-Chalmers proposed to the union on July 29th that the Union give all employes in the bargaining unit a chance to vote, as provided in the Federal Labor Law, on whether to accept the Company's last offer or to continue the strike. The Union flatly rejected this proposal.

The Union leaders, thus, decided against permitting employes the opportunity to express themselves.

Allis-Chalmers proposed the vote for several reasons:

- The Company has modified its offer several times in order to obtain an agreement.
- Conversations with employes on strike indicate a misunderstanding about the present Company offer.
- None of the employes have had opportunity to express themselves in a vote about this offer.
- Less than a majority of employes in the bargaining unit voted for the strike before it began.
- The Union Bargaining Committee has not modified its proposal and apparently does not feel the need for further negotiation meetings.

The improved offer made to the Union by the Company on July 15th is an excellent one, and compares very favorably with the rates and benefits in this area. As part of a new two-year labor agreement, the Company proposes:

First Year

- 3 per cent general wage increase.
- An 8th paid holiday (December 31st).
- Four weeks vacation after 20 years of service, effective January 1, 1966.
- $18 per employe as a retroactive payment of the 3% increase for hours worked since June 1, 1965.
- New apprentice ratio as already agreed between the parties.
- 18 minute paid lunch period for 2nd shift employes on a two shift operation.
- 60 working day probationary period.
- Pay in lieu of vacation hours in excess of 80 at the company's discretion and with an employe option.

Second Year

- Another general wage increase of 3½ per cent.
- Three-day bereavement leave pay.
- $3500 group life insurance coverage.
- $19 per day allowance for hospital room and board and $360 hospital incidentals under the hospital-medical insurance plan.

We URGE that the Union leadership reconsider its position — and permit all employes in the bargaining unit to vote in a secret ballot conducted by either the State or Federal Conciliation Service on whether to accept the Company offer or to continue the strike.

Metal Workers Business Area Change At Chilton Firm Dicussed in Appleton For Work on Medicare Bill Choose Union

Allied Industrial Local to Bargain for Aluminum Employees

CHILTON — Employees of the Aluminum Specialty Co. chose the Allied Industrial Workers as their first union bargaining agent in seven years in an election Tuesday.

The AIW won a 100-14 decision over the International Association of Machinists, with 76 "no union" votes, three challenged ballots and two voided votes being cast.

A total of 133 ballots were cast by 218 eligible voters. The election was supervised by the National Labor Relations Board.

The machinist union served as bargaining agent for the firm's workers in 1958. There had been no union representation since that year. Both unions belong to the AFL-CIO.

The AIW also represents employees at the firm's Manitowish plant.

Consolidated Paper to Build Pulp Mill Costing $20 Million

He noted that invitations to build this plant in other areas have been received from various industrial development groups in the northern hemisphere including several Canadian provinces.

Construction of the kraft mill marks the first chemical pulp expansion by the company since 1945. During this 20-year period, Consolidated's enamel paper production has nearly tripled.

Technical Advances Kraft mills are traditionally known for their odor, Mead observed, but he pointed out that significant technical advances had been made to greatly reduce this problem. "We have visited a number of mills in the U.S. and abroad to observe their odor control techniques as well as their plant engineering. We find new mills can do an excellent job in odor reduction which older mills find difficult to accomplish. The best control devices will be employed in the new mill to minimize odors. In national publications and studies have also been made of prevailing wind patterns. The plant will be so located to take advantage of them; thus, when combined with the latest technological equipment we expect to do the best odor - control job that is possible," he added.

"Stream conditions on the Wisconsin River will be greatly improved with the demise of the sulfite mill and the start-up of the kraft facility. When our sulfite mill goes down we will substantially reduce the pollution loading by our Wisconsin Rapids Division. We anticipate a 70 to 80 per cent reduction," Mead reported.

Details on construction and employment prospects, costs and financing, type of digester and recovery units, steam and power requirements, and other elements of the plant will be announced later when final engineering plans have been drawn and approved. The company will use local hardwoods and softwoods as it does in existing sulfite mill augmented by pine. Plant engineering work to be handled by independent consulting firms has been arranged.

All of the mill's production—300 tons per day of bone-dry bleached pulp or 100,000 tons per year—will be used by the company in its own papermaking operations.

Both Parties Praise Green Bay Man; Johnson Criticized

WASHINGTON — Much of the credit for the development of the Medicare program, which next year opens up a new way of life for older citizens, goes to Rep. John W. Byrnes of Green Bay, according to Chairman Wilbur D. Mills (D., Ark.) of the House Ways and Means Committee.

In an interview, the chairman of the committee which originated and handled the Medicare legislation, praised Byrnes, the top Republican on the committee as having "unflinchingly" given his full cooperation to the formation of Medicare.

"We adopted many of John's ideas and suggestions in the original bill as well as in the conference report," Mills declared. "The country should certainly recognize him for his many contributions to the Medicare program."

Johnson Criticized On the other side of the political aisle in the House, Rep. Gerald R. Ford, Mich., House Aug. 7, an offer of Mrs. Carl Republican floor leader, not only praised his Wisconsin colleague for his work on the Medicare program, but also took the opportunity to point out that President Johnson failed to mention Byrnes' efforts on the measure during televised ceremonies in Independence, Mo., when Mr. Johnson signed the bill into law.

"Since even Chairman Mills emphasized that although service to the country was at the ceremonies village will be affected through increased charges for service, the city hopes to get an idea of future expansion plans in the village to determine whether the

The squirrel was trapped under a bushel basket by Angus McIntyre, 1500 S. Memorial Drive, who said the squirrel appeared to be sick.

The brief report from the state health department said tests for rabies showed no sign of the disease. However, it said the animal had numerous skin tumors.

The carcass of another animal, a gopher, was received by the health department Tuesday, and was to be shipped to the state laboratories for similar tests.

Earlier in the day the gopher had bitten a four-year-old boy on the thumb. The animal was believed to have been struck by a car, and was aggravated.

Expectant Mother Makes 'Dry Run' on Outagamie Police

A Sheboygan woman, an expectant mother, told Outagamie County Sheriff radio-men Tuesday she was making a "practice run" on a possible emergency.

The woman said her husband, a workman with a Sheboygan engineering firm on a job in Outagamie County, wanted to be with her when the time for the baby's arrival came sometime next month.

Could the sheriff's department relay the message quickly enough to her husband's job site so he could return home in time? The woman asked.

Radiomen assured the caller that such a message, when it came, would be quickly dispatched.

The Eagles Club was granted permission to close off Oak Street for a benefit street dance Aug. 7. An offer of Mrs. Carl Garrison to sell a lot, adjacent to Riverside Park, to the city was referred to the finance committee and health and recreation committee for study and recommendation.

Sewer Assessment An assessment rate of $2.20 a lineal foot for installation of the sanitary sewer on Augustine Street was approved. The installation affects two property owners.

Plans were made for an August meeting with officials from Combined Locks to discuss works budget. Streets being considered include Division Street from Lawe to Kaukauna; Blackwell Street from Division to DuDera; 905 Augustine St., about 6:50 p.m. Tuesday.

Women Voters League For Appointment Plan For Kaukauna Hospital Babies

Mrs. Hoffman said that the league intended to work with other citizens' groups supporting appointment of the officials. League officials said one consideration in their decision was the procedure the mayor would use concerning the elected incumbents. Mrs. J. David Halloran, 1910 N. Lawe St., research committee chairman, said Mayor Clarence Mitchell told her that he would require all persons applying for the positions to take equal examinations.

Administrative Jobs The league also considered whether the positions were administrative or policy making. The league report stated that most people concerned with government feel that policy-making jobs should be responsive to the electorate.

At the July meeting the group generally agreed that the jobs were administrative and not involved in broad policy making. The league report stated that the state and national authorities on municipal government who were consulted agreed that the question of electing or appointing officials is a closed matter.

Trend in Nation The report said that the trend in the nation has been to appoint administrative officials. It noted that the number of American cities electing one or more administrative officers other than the mayor has decreased from 70 per cent in 1936 to 49 per cent in 1960.

The trend has been the same in Wisconsin, according to the report. The majority of the 43 Wisconsin municipalities over 10,000 appoint rather than elect the clerk, assessor, and attorney.

The study was unusual in that the league ordinarily does not conduct studies during the summer. Mrs. Hoffman said the league adopted the emergency study "because it felt it was vital to take part in this important referendum."

Radio System Put Into Effect by City Department A radio communications system for the Appleton Department of Public Works will be put into use this week. Public Works Director Robert Bues said today.

The system, designed to save time and improve the efficiency of the department, consists of four units in offices of the divisions of the department, and 13 in vehicles.

Those in vehicles are manned by supervisory personnel and engineers. Bues said the communications system is expected to eliminate unnecessary trips and wasted time used for traveling.

In addition, it will be tied into other city radio facilities through equipment in the police station.

Appleton Man Gets School Post at Brillion

Allan Coenen Starts Duties as District's First Principal

BRILLION — Allan Coenen, 31, a graduate of Appleton High School and Wisconsin State University-Oshkosh, begins his duties as principal of Brillion High School this week. He assumes the position on a part-time basis and will retain his duties as athletic director, football coach, mathematics department head and teacher of two advanced math courses.

The creation of the position is based on increased student enrollment and an increase in faculty members to the point where it is difficult for one person to provide the necessary educational leadership and the daily mechanics of the school operation, according to Gaylord Unbehauen, superintendent.

AHS Graduate
Coenen graduated from Appleton High School in 1952 and was employed at Riverside Paper Corp. until 1954. He served two years in the U.S. Army from 1954-1956, graduated from college in 1960 and has been at Brillion for the past five years. This week he completed the course work for his master's degree in mathematics at Marquette University, Milwaukee.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Coenen, 1605 W. Rogers Ave. Appleton.

High school classes will begin Monday, Aug. 30, and will run full schedule from 8:05 to 11:39 a.m. and 12:25 to 3:43 p.m., according to Coenen.

Students who are new to the community and have not completed registering for classes may do so Aug. 16, 17 or 18 at the school.

Midwest Belt Cloudiest Spot In Nation's Skies

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Thunderstorms and showers continued in parts of the Midwest and Southeast today but skies cleared in most other sections of the nation.

Nearly three inches of rain, with some hail doused Moline, Ill., in three hours. Wind gusts of 51 miles an hour swept the Peoria, Ill., area. A shower belt extended from Moline to Joliet, Ill. Showers also dampened areas in southwestern lower Michigan and northern Indiana.

Earlier, thunderstorms and rain hit broad areas from Nebraska to the northern Great Lakes, in Florida and along the Gulf Coast to Texas and in scattered sections of the Western mountains. More than three inches of rain pelted areas northwest of West Palm Beach, Fla., in 90 minutes.

Cool air covered the Northeast but temperatures were near normal levels in most of the Midwest after several days of cool weather. Record low marks for Aug. 3 and Aug. 4 were set in Elkins, W. Va., with a 44 reading shortly before midnight and a 42 early today. The morning's high was 96 at Needles, in the California desert region.

Weatherman Predicts Showers tonight over portions of the Mississippi valley, lower Great Lakes, western gulf coast states and southern Atlantic coast states. It will be cooler in the Northeast with much of the midwest and southern portions of the nation experiencing warm readings. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Based on California Model

Advisory Unit Studying Conciliation Court Plan

MADISON — The feasibility of conciliation courts with power to attempt reconciliation in troubled marriages, after the model of California and some other states, is being explored by the State Advisory Council for Home and Family.

The disclosure came today in the first annual report of the agency established by the 1965 legislature to study means of reducing the social and economic costs of an increasing rate of divorce, abandonment and separation in Wisconsin.

Ratio Has Doubled
Sen. Allan J. Bushy, West Allis, is chairman of the council, created when lawmakers expressed alarm about statistical showings that the ratio of dependency caused by divorce and desertion in the $24,000,000 Wisconsin dependent children aid program has doubled in recent years.

The council said that several other states have adopted the method since the creation of the special California courts 25 years ago, and that a study is being made to determine whether similar legislation could be used to replace existing Wisconsin conciliation procedures, or whether some of the methods used in those states could be advantageously added to the Wisconsin system.

Uniform Summons
Another study project involves the possibility of devising a uniform summons that could be used in all actions for divorce or legal separation, the report to the legislature said.

It was also announced that a state-wide conference for the home and family, the first of its kind in the country, will be held next year. It is expected to attract state and national leaders interested in preventing family disintegration.

Showers Pelt Southern Half Of Wisconsin

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Thunderstorms rattled through southern Wisconsin Tuesday night and early today. Most of the southern half of the state, plus an area near the Upper Michigan border, was covered by rain of varying amounts.

An unofficial total of 2½ inches of rain in one hour was reported at Reeseville in Dodge County, accompanied by hail and wind. Tree branches were downed but no injuries were reported. The village of Randolph had hail and rain and several trees were toppled.

The largest amount of rain recorded at an official Weather Bureau station was 1.34 inches at Pewaukee. Racine had 1.18, Milwaukee .71, Beloit .63, Burlington .31 and La Crosse .07. Fog moved in behind the rain

Life of Paralytic 'Just a Matter of Adjustment'

By DON CARSON

WASHINGTON (AP)—"It was just a matter of adjusting my thinking to this way of life."

Thomas H. (Mickey) Countee Jr. hitched himself up in his wheel chair. An open folder lay on his desk in the Peace Corps office where he puts in 40 hours a week screening overseas applications.

Strapped to his arm were two metal splints. One held a container to steady his pen, the other a tubular device for telephone dialing.

At 25—he will be 26 on Aug. 7—Countee has spent seven years in what he calls "this way of life."

He is a wheel chair-bound quadriplegic. An accident in 1958 left his legs paralyzed, his arms partly so.

Peace Corps Worker

He has worked full time for the Peace Corps for the past three years, winning during that time a bachelor's degree from Washington's American University and financing two years at Georgetown University's four-year law school.

Ultimately, Countee hopes to practice in New York.

Seven years ago, his thoughts were far from New York and the law.

He had completed his second year at Harvard and like many 19-year-old college boys was unwinding during the summer.

He was at a Chesapeake Bay beach in Maryland when his world was shattered.

He dove from a pier. His head struck the sand. The impact crushed his spinal cord.

For three months he lay in a hospital, for a year he strained with the discomfort and pain that stems from a rehabilitation program.

Reentered School

At last, he returned to his parents' home in Washington. Slowly during that first year he reentered the world outside the hospital. He took one college course. The next year he enrolled for a full load.

He took a year off and submitted articles to some of the nation's top magazines—"I got nothing but rejects."

He resumed his education in 1962, combining it now with the Peace Corps job.

Countee can't pinpoint one factor as helping him transfer from the world of physical normalcy to that of the handicapped.

"Support from the family and friends and the best medical care—these things sustained me," he said.

"I more or less tried to cope with it."

Some Despondency

"I was fortunate. Sure, there were times of fairly deep depression. I was in a good deal of pain for more than a year. But the sieges of despondency didn't last too long."

"Perhaps the greatest effect it had on me initially," he said, "was the way it affected my family. I knew the expenses would be heavy. I had one brother in prep school, and another about to start."

"I think that was the greatest concern at that time—the family."

The family consists of his brothers and parents. His father is a lawyer and high school teacher. His mother is a social worker.

The brothers did get to prep school and one is now a junior at Stanford. The other will enter Syracuse University this fall.

"I was fortunate in having a family which could adjust to the wheel chair adds about 80 more hardships they knew were That's not easy pushing ahead," he said, then grinned. Today, Countee has an attendant to dress him and drive him.

Strong Brothers

And it was good to have two to and from work. strong brothers. You know, I His status even has some advantages he said.

Today in History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, Aug. 5, the 216th day of 1965. There are 149 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1735, editor and printer John Peter Zenger went on trial on a charge of seditious libel for daring to publish criticism of Gov. William Cosby of New York Province. His acquittal by a jury is regarded as the first important victory for freedom of the press.

On this date:

In 1790, the U.S. Coast Guard was established.

In 1900, Britain's Queen Mother Elizabeth was born.

In 1914, Great Britain declared war on Germany.

In 1916, the United States signed a treaty with Denmark for the purchase of the Danish West Indies for $25 million.

In 1945, President Harry S. Truman signed the Bretton Woods agreement, making the United States the first nation prepared to join the World Bank.

Ten years ago — Premier Nikolai Bulganin reported to the Supreme Soviet in Moscow that the Geneva Big Four Conference had resulted in a turn toward better relations.

Five years ago — The U.S. X-15 rocket ship broke the world speed record and set a new altitude record on flights from Edwards Air Force Base, Calif.

One year ago — U.S. planes bombed North Viet Nam targets after renewed attacks on American destroyers in the Gulf of Tonkin.

First Navy Draft in Decade May Raise Force by 35,000; Army Quota Up

Extending Enlistments Considered

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy set out today to muster the first draftees it has used in a decade. It also is considering involuntary extensions of duty for skilled men whose enlistments are expiring.

The service is suggesting that its total manpower be increased by about 35,000, but this figure is still under scrutiny by both Navy and Defense Department officials.

A Pentagon call for the biggest Army draft quotas since mid-point in the Korean War carried a provision for the Navy to get 4,600 draftees in October.

A Defense Department announcement Tuesday was the first official step putting into effect President Johnson's order to raise monthly draft quotas from the previous 17,000 level to as high as 35,000.

The department did three things: 1. Revised the 17,000 call for September, which was issued only 12 days ago, to a new total of 27,400 men, all for the Army. 2. Requested a quota of 33,600 in October, the biggest levy since the 80,000 monthly quotas at the peak of the Korean War. 3. Specified that 4,600 of the October quota be for the Navy. The Marines and Air Force, as usual, requested no draftees.

The Navy's last request for draftees was made for two months late in 1955 and one month early in 1956 when the number of volunteers fell to a point where the Navy was under its required strength.

Today, the Navy's need arises from several factors.

More ships are coming into service, largely because of the requirements of the war in Viet Nam, but also as part of a general buildup.

More men are needed to man such support craft as amphibious ships. They also are needed to fill out crews of ships under strength.

Only Major City Where Whites Are Outnumbered

King's Conditions for Negroes Survey Goes to Washington, D. C.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. carries his survey of the living and working conditions of northern Negroes today into the nation's capital, the only major U.S. city where Negroes outnumber whites.

Leaders of the city's civil rights groups prepared to enlist the integration leader's support for local campaigns to improve housing conditions, education and welfare programs. They also hoped Dr. King's two-day visit would boost the drive to win self-government for Washington.

King planned to address a breakfast, a suburban fair housing meeting and three street corner rallies today. His schedule for Thursday includes another street corner rally, meetings with congressional leaders and the District of Columbia commissioners and a speech to a citywide rally in the evening.

The D.C. Coalition of Conscience, which brings together the city's major civil rights groups, has prepared summaries for Dr. King of the city's major problems as it sees them. The Rev. Walter Fauntroy, a

Gasoline Tax Cut Cent in California

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown has signed an order cutting California's gasoline tax from eight cents to seven cents a gallon effective Aug. 31.

The special one-cent boost, which took effect April 1, had been planned to continue through this year to raise money for repairing highways and streets devastated by last December's floods.

The governor told his news conference Tuesday the special levy, coupled with accelerated federal aid, has raised the $57 million needed for road repair.

Vance Holds Little Hope Guard-Reserve Plan 'Tough Row to Hoe'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House hearings on the controversial plan to put Army reserve units into the National Guard are expected to end today with a Pentagon official acknowledging the proposal has "a tough row to hoe."

Deputy Secretary of Defense Cyrus R. Vance gave that assessment Tuesday after concluding the Pentagon's case for the program before the House Armed Services subcommittee. Subcommittee Chairman F. Edward Hebert, D-La., indicated just how tough the row would be for the plan when he told Vance that as of now he thought the merger "would be a detriment" to national security.

Priority Units

Vance saw it the other way, expressing belief it would be "detrimental to the national security" not to go forward with it.

Soviet Talks To be Topic Of Harriman

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet Ambassador W. Averell Harriman reports to President Johnson today on his talks with Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin, the first such high-level contact since the new Kremlin regime took over last fall.

Harriman spent nearly five hours closeted with Kosygin in two meetings in Moscow about a fortnight ago.

U.S. sources said Harriman's soundings in Moscow and the other European capitals during his four-week trip do not significantly alter what is already known about the Viet Nam situation. He also saw leaders in Belgium, West Germany, Italy, Yugoslavia and Britain.

On his return here Tuesday night, Harriman told an airport news conference "I'm quite sure" the Soviets want a peaceful solution in Viet Nam. But he added "it's not in the hands of the Soviet Union in my opinion. It's in the hands of North Viet Nam." He said the Russians "don't appear to be ready to take the side of the non-Communist world" in efforts to bring the Hanoi regime to the conference table.

Kosygin is "a more serious man" than Khrushchev, Harriman told newsmen.

"He doesn't joke quite as easily. He looks you directly in the eye. That's something I like."

Grand Jury Indicts Suburban Chicago Mayor in Probe

CHICAGO (AP) — A suburban mayor and a reputed crime syndicate henchman have been indicted by a federal grand jury that has been investigating organized crime.

Indicted Monday on charges ranging from tax evasion to extortion were Northlake Mayor Henry E. Neri, 47; Rocco Pranno, 45, of suburban Stone Park, a reputed member of the underworld, and three other men.

The indictments and arrests were announced by U.S. Atty. Edward V. Hanrahan.

Internal Revenue Service agents arrested Pranno in his Stone Park night club.

A government spokesman said Pranno tried to flee when IRS agents arrived and during the confusion a Stone Park police car curbed the IRS car.

An IRS Agent then was placed in the Stone Park squad car while other agents rushed inside the night club and seized Pranno.

Others indicted and arrested were Wayne A. Seidler, 36, a former Northlake alderman; Peter Anderson, a former Northlake building commissioner, and Mike De Vito, a Stone Park contractor.

Hanrahan said one alleged extortion scheme involved the International Paper Co. of Whippany, N.J., and the Perini Corp. of Framingham, Mass.

The government alleged that demands for a $20,000 shake-down were made in late 1960 just as the Perini Co. began construction of a multimillion-dollar paper plant in Northlake.

The grand jury has been investigating alleged racketeering since December. Its sessions were marked by the jailing June 1 of Momo Salvatore (Sam) Giancana, reputed leader of the Chicago crime syndicate.

U. S. Bombers Complete Second Raid on Mountainous Do Xa Area

101st Airborne Troops Come Under Viet Cong Fire for First Time

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. B52 bombers today made their second raid in three days on the mountainous Do Xa area 350 miles northeast of Saigon, a U.S. spokesman announced.

The spokesman said "a number" of the Strategic Air Command jets from Guam made the strike on a suspected Viet Cong base in Quang Tin Province. It was the eighth B52 raid of the Viet Nam conflict to be announced.

The Viet Cong has long controlled the Do Xa, a mist-shrouded area of jungled mountains in the central highlands. Thirty B52s from Guam hit the area on Monday.

On the ground, troops of the 101st Airborne Division came under Viet Cong fire for the first time early today, only six days after about 3,700 of the paratroopers landed at Cam Ranh Bay 180 miles northeast of Saigon.

A U.S. spokesman said guerrillas harassed men of the division with small arms fire but American casualties were "very light."

The paratroopers set up defensive positions around the harbor to provide security for Army engineers constructing a base there.

The Viet Cong inflicted "moderate" to "heavy" casualties on government forces in three other scattered actions, a military spokesman said. He gave this report:

An estimated battalion of guerrillas ambushed a regional force on a road-clearing mission near Tay Ninh, 40 miles northwest of Saigon. A relief force dispatched to the scene did not make contact with the Viet Cong.

Mayor Daley Picketed for Third Night

CHICAGO (AP) — Some 100 integrationists for the third consecutive night picketed Mayor Richard J. Daley's home Tuesday night and a leader of the group said picketing would continue daily for an indefinite period.

About 150 policemen were stationed in the South Side Bridgeport neighborhood where the mayor lives but no one was arrested. Sixty-five demonstrators were arrested Monday night and Daley accused them of stirring up tension.

Albert Raby of the Coordinating Council of Community Organizations and Dick Gregory, a Negro comedian, led the four-mile march from Grant Park in a rainstorm. Raby said his group has no plans to halt the marches to the mayor's home.

The marchers are protesting the recent rehiring of Benjamin C. Willis, schools superintendent, who demonstrators say has kept Chicago schools under de facto racial segregation. Daley says he cannot interfere with Willis' contract.

Serious Financial Bind Hits Most of Elderly

BY SYLVIA PORTER

(2nd in a series of 3 columns)
The new Medicare law — providing a broad health insurance and a voluntary doctor insurance plan for the elderly beginning July 1, 1966 — is the most sweeping extension of Social Security in the 30-year history of the system. But virtually lost in the decade-long marathon of Congressional debating and revising of Medicare's details and virtually ignored by last week's blast of headlines has been the fundamental fact behind the historic law.

Porter

This fact is, simply, the financial plight of a vast majority of our elderly citizens — and thus their terror of illness for financial as well as physical and emotional reasons.

Against the backdrop of our unparalleled national prosperity, most of our 18 million-plus elderly citizens are in a serious money bind. While the majority of younger Americans are earning record and rising incomes — buying more and more according to wants rather than needs — the elderly have continued to slip behind in our national march toward affluence.

How Poor?
Exactly how poor are our elderly today? Here are a few solid, bleak facts to contemplate:

Fact One: Out of 34.6 million counted as "poor" by latest yardsticks, 5.2 million are 65 or over. The elderly account for one in 10 of our population, but for one in seven of our poor. Nearly one-third of all 65 or older have incomes below the "poverty line."

Fact Two: The incomes of our elderly run about half of those of the under-65. The average income of today's elderly couple is $2,900 — against $5,800 for the under-65 couple. Only 20 per cent of all elderly couples have incomes of $5,000 or more a year.

Income Declining

Fact Three: The "real income" of our elderly citizens actually has been declining because their dollar incomes have not kept pace with the rise in living costs. A recent study of 1960 census figures reveals that while the real income of younger American men soared 59 per cent between 1949 and 1959, the real income of older men fell 33 per cent in this period. This is the reason why another part of the Social Security law has raised Social Security benefits 7 per cent across-the-board, effective this past Jan. 1.

Fact Four: Poverty is even more pronounced among elderly single citizens living alone or with relatives. Here, the average annual income is $1,130 and 44 per cent of this group have incomes of less than $1,000.

Fact Five: Assets of elderly citizens are puny compared to those of younger people. A full 37 per cent of all elderly couples and more than half of all single elderly citizens have assets of under $1,000. While young families can dip into their nesteggs to meet emergencies and later rebuild their reserves from earnings, the elderly usually have no way to replace dollars drained from their savings by such catastrophes as major, prolonged illnesses.

Private Pensions

Fact Six: Only 16 per cent of elderly American couples receive private pension benefits and the sums are generally small for even this minority. The total outside income for a majority of Social Security beneficiaries is $12.50 or less a month.

Of course, we have done much to relieve the financial pressures of our older citizens. Their total spending power has multiplied from $15 billion a year in 1950 to $130-$140 billion today—due largely to higher Social Security benefits. Incomes from private pensions, dividends and other forms of savings have been rising too — and three in four older American couples now own their own homes.

But the facts on the other side are also plain. Medicare will remove a modest but deeply important degree of economic pressure on our elderly. The resulting increase in their ability to spend for other needs and wants will in turn be a spur to the entire U.S. economy — a plus for all of us, young and old.

Music Festival Opens At Fish Creek Saturday

Rare Complete Performances to Feature Peninsula Music Event

BY JACK RUDOLPH
Post-Crescent News Service

FISH CREEK — A number of important features will distinguish the 12th annual Peninsula Music Festival, which opens here Saturday night under the direction of Dr. Thor Johnson, founder-director.

In addition to the introduction of classical dancing to Festival programs, the fortnight of music making will offer several outstanding innovations.

Of exceptional interest will be rare complete performances of Igor Stravinsky's score for the ballet "Pulcinella" and "L'Enfant Prodigue," a cantata or lyric scene by Claude Debussy.

The 40-piece Festival Orchestra will also play an infrequently heard cycle of three early symphonies by Franz Josef Haydn.

Concert Program

The latter pieces are Symphonies Numbers 6, 7 and 8, depicting Morning, Noon and Night. For that reason they are traditionally subtitled "Le Matin," "Le Midi" and "Le Soir." The Haydn works will constitute three-quarters of this year's Festival symphonic repertoire, the only other formal symphony scheduled being Mendelssohn's Number 1 in C Minor, previously heard here in 1957.

With a phalanx of solo artists that includes three pianists, a top ranked violinist and three well known vocalists, concertos and song cycles will be in abundant supply.

All told, the eight subscription concertos (plus a concerto grosso and a pair of concertantes), three song cycles and cantata

Outstanding Artists
Pianists Richard Cass, Gyorgy Sandor and Mary Sauer will each offer a major piano concerto by Chopin, Bartok and Beethoven. Returning violinists Charles Treger will perform the Sibelius and Tchaikovsky violin concertos.

In addition, there will be a modern concerto for trombone, one for violin and oboe by J. S. Bach and another for orchestra by Bach's son, K. P. E. Bach. Song cycles will be "Summer Nights" by Berlioz and "Seven Early Songs" by Alben Berg, both sung opening night by Sheboygan-born soprano Helen Boatwright; and Gustav Mahler's "Kindertotenlieder" by Japanese baritone Katsumi Niwa.

Only one premiere will be offered this year, a work commissioned for the Festival from Joseph Goodman of New York. A concertante for woodwind quintet and orchestra, it is dedicated to the Sont Veriorum and will be premiered by the group.

Concert Dates
Concerts will be presented on Saturday evenings, Wednesday evenings and Sunday afternoons through Aug. 22. There will be a special youth concert Tuesday afternoon, Aug. 10.

Evening curtain times are 8 o'clock, with afternoon concerts beginning at 3 p.m. Season and single concert tickets are now on sale at Newman's in Appleton as well as Festival headquarters at The Pioneer Schoolhouse in Ephraim.

New Bedford, Mass., Prepares 1965
Recipes for Annual Scallop Festival

By Lillian Mackesy

Post-Crescent Food Editor

This is the month when fish-loving New Englanders glorify one of their favorite shellfish . . . scallops. The port of New Bedford, Mass., comes alive at this time of year. Into this old whaling city . . . where the succulent scallop now reigns as king . . . come inlanders by the thousands to savor this delicious Atlantic Ocean shellfish. Right now the fishing boats . . . called scallopers . . . are heading for port from Georges Bank, 150 miles at sea, loaded to the scuppers with scallop meats. Everybody on shore is preparing for the three-day feasting that makes the yearly Scallop Festival a real joy to attend. The Festival starts this weekend.

One of the Festival highlights is the announcement of winners of the scallop recipe contest conducted in the spring. Scallop lovers all over the country enter this contest. One of the top winners this year is Mrs. Lena Scott of Dividing Creek, N.J., whose recipe for Scallop-Yam Chowder should provide stay-at-homes an excellent opportunity to have their own "scallop festival" of the backyard or patio variety.

One interesting note about scallops is that Americans eat only the tender white shell muscle, although Europeans eat the entire body of the mollusk as we eat clams and oysters. This American peculiarity has given way to a lively scallop shucking contest that provides a lot of fun between eating the various dishes at the harbor-side Festival.

The popularity of scallops has increased enormously among inlanders in the past few years . . . perhaps it's because midwestern cooks have discovered there's no waste with a scallop and its versatility is really remarkable.

Here is a collection of scallop recipes worth trying. One comes from the Festival committee as one of the favorites with New Bedford fishing families. It's Scallop Boat Supper that uses frozen scallops in this adapted recipe since that's the way they come in the lake region.

Other recipes were developed and tested in the professional kitchens of the New Bedford Sea Food Council by home economist Demetria Taylor and her staff with the idea of frankly promoting the delicious scallop. They all prove themselves out, and include such recipes as fried scallops with a Sea Goddess Sauce (out of this world!) . . . Scallopettes (delicious croquettes!) . . . an appetizer salad that's excellent . . . and a recipe superb with a Spanish flavor.

One of the Biggest Reasons for the scallop's booming popularity is the endless variety in which this seafood can be served. Two examples are the recipes for scallops Espagnol, above, and a delightful appetizer salad below.

Ammonia Cuts Wax

A new floor wax promises a shine that won't wash away, so grimy floors scrubbed with soap or detergent suds will not need to be rewaxed each time. However, just adding ammonia to the scrubbing solution will remove this wax when the time comes to apply a new coat.

Cone Shape Is New At Paris Showings

Editor's Note — The new Paris fashions for fall and winter are almost ended. In this special roundup, an AP fashion specialist sums up major trends in the new styles.

By LOUISE HICKMAN

PARIS (AP) — Conical shapes, well covered up, dominate the new Paris fashion collections for fall and winter.

That's the outstanding impression one has after viewing advance showings of the new fashions which opened July 26 and end this Friday with a preview of the Yves Saint-Laurent collection.

Balenciaga shows Wednesday for buyers, and Saint-Laurent will give a delayed showing for the press Friday.

Buyers who have seen the new Saint-Laurent collection hail it as the best in Paris, commenting particularly on his brilliant use of color in creating geometric patterns outlined in bars of black.

Hemline Talk
No one mentions hemlines at Saint-Laurent, and in other fall-winter collections lengths play lesser roles than had been expected. The acceptable average would seem to be mid-knee.

The prevailing shape is a slender cone, which gives new dimension to the A-line. Shoulders and long sleeves are slender. Collars are high, loose rings. Suit jackets are longer.

Belts circle but never cinch. Most of them are slung loosely around the hips, on dresses. Dior ties them lightly around the natural waist, on his long suit jackets and over his gentle, slightly flared, slightly gathered skirts. Patou threads big belts through the hip-level edges of jackets.

The Pant Picture

Heim has many knee-length full-blown knickers, in fur or fabric for any hour of the day, and Lanvin showed the same harem shapes for at-home wear. And that is about it, as far as pants are concerned.

In short-skirt collections, leg-covering gaiters in fabrics to match coats or dresses take the place of boots.

In both French and Italian collections, the search is on for new coat shapes. There are a few wide coats in the Ricci and Molyneux collections. At Ricci they are scarf-wrapped around the neck and buttonless. Molyneux buttons them high, once, at the neck.

Close-Out Coats
Cardin cuts coats close, on bias, with deep straight lampshade hems and borders. Some are widely double-breasted, others fall open from the high loose stovepipe collar that characterizes his collection.

Lanvin has close tunic coats that meet edge to edge at center front and button on to the dresses underneath. They are worn with high fur rings. Dior coats are short and almost flat to the body, but with wide faintly barred outlines.

The newest evening look is one that suits your own taste strapless, cut high to cover cleavage. The gowns are cut close to the rib cage, circle the body in a slender, stiff cone from a point above the waist. They always have some sort of covering — a jeweled jacket, a long coat, or a scarf wrap.

Feather News

Feathers — not fancy ones — made news. Dior has several barreled coats in thick jersey fluffed with partridge and guinea hen. Dark-gleaming cock feathers, used in many collections, were shown at Dior in everything from a high ruff collar to a full-length evening coat.

Rigid domed hats dominate the collections. But the newest-looking hat is Dior's wide, soft black "cavalier" felt. At Lanvin and Ricci there were bandanna wraps in firm felt. Patou showed a bandanna-wrapped "sphinx" coil, often in suede.

Both rigid and soft fabrics are used in wools and silks. There is less white, much more black, some dark brown. Camel beige is in every collection. The leading bright shade is parma violet. There are also many emerald greens and ochre yellows.

Defenders Need Four Good Plays

When you have 25 or 26 points in four suits, with at least three aces, you should have a good play for game at notrump. How often are your opponents good enough to make the correct play in each of the four suits? This is needed to defeat a certain type of hand.

West makes his normal spade lead, which has the fortunate effect (for the defenders) of taking the ace of spades out of the dummy. East wins the first trick with the king of spades and returns a spade to remove the side entry to dummy's long clubs.

Declarer leads a diamond from dummy, and East plays low. South wins with the king of diamonds and returns the jack of clubs. West must put up the king, since otherwise dummy's long suit would come in quite easily.

Declarer wins in dummy with the ace of clubs and leads another diamond. East must play low again, since otherwise the rest of the diamonds are good for South. South wins with the queen of diamonds and leads out the ace and queen of hearts.

The defenders have played three suits perfectly and must now make the right play in hearts. West refuses to win the second round of hearts.

South leads a club to dummy, but East holds off. South gets two tricks in each suit, but that is all.

If West took the king of hearts and returned a spade, South would win and return a club. East would hold off, and declarer would cash dummy's jack of hearts and put East in with the queen of clubs. East would be left with the ace-ten of diamonds and would have to let South make the ninth trick with the jack of diamonds.

If your opponents are good enough to defend this way regularly, you should bid conservatively. Otherwise you can afford to bid your cards aggressively.

Possibilities Explored Toastmistress Club May be Organized

The possibility of organizing a Toastmistress Club in Appleton will be discussed at the 6 p.m. Thursday meeting of the Appleton Toastmasters Club at Alex's Manor House. Members of the Green Bay Toastmasters and Toastmistress Clubs will attend the meeting.

Toastmistress is an International organization formed in San Francisco, Calif., in 1930 by a group of women who believed that women must be able to communicate effectively if the impact of their influence is to be felt.

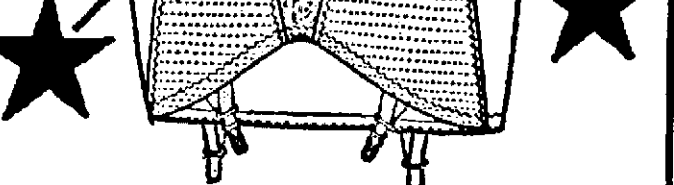

Training in Toastmistress deals with the total personality. In small groups, members receive individual assignments for study and practice. Beginning with simple situations and advancing in gradual difficulty to the formal speech, training is given in voice, speech organization and delivery.

Toastmistress clubs usually meet twice monthly. Each part of the program is a training exercise. Several members speak on subjects of their choice. An evaluator concludes the program with a critical analysis of the meeting suggesting points for improvement and commending progress.

Round table and panel discussions, debates, book reviews and other types of programs vary the pattern of the meetings.

Women interested in the organization of an Appleton club and attending the meeting have been asked to contact Mrs. Richard Draatz, or Courtney Schwartz, president of the Appleton Toastmasters Club.

Not About to Retire, 'Queen Mum' Is 65

By EDDY GILMORE
LONDON (AP) — Her Majesty Elizabeth Angela Marguerite — lady of the garter, lady of the thistle and the Queen Mum to millions of Britons — is 65 today.
At an age when most men and women are retiring, the mother of Queen Elizabeth II and Princess Margaret is as busy as a beaver in her native Scotland with no thought of fading away.
"What's she doing on her birthday?" said a close friend in response to a question. Why, she'll probably go fishing.
"Fishing?"
"Yes, salmon fishing. There are few things she likes better and few people who are better at it."
The widow of King George VI many to raise money for charity was spending her birthday vacationing at her castle of Mey.

on the wild and windy northern tip of Scotland.
Cake Champagne
An informant said there would be a small birthday cake, presents, a glass or two of champagne, telephone calls and telegrams from her family and friends and visits from some of her neighbors.
Gun salutes will be fired in London's Hyde Park and by naval ships and shore batteries.
An energetic and friendly woman, the queen mother already this year has visited Jamaica, Canada, France and Germany, and fulfilled 61 public engagements at home.
Before the end of the year she'll probably make another 35 or 40 official appearances.
Few members of royalty anywhere can have led a more exemplary life or one more dedicated to duty. There has never been criticism of her actions or activities and never so much as a whisper of scandal.
Acts Herself
By being herself — gracious, considerate, wise and witty — she has endeared herself to many people in many places.
There was the time in South Africa when an ultranationalist with the Boer War in mind told her:
"We find it difficult to forget what the English did to us."
With a smile upon her pretty plump face, she sweetly replied:
"I do so sympathize with you. You see, I'm Scots."
She was once in a friend's house when the hostess turned on the television set to view British soccer's equivalent of the U.S. World Series.
As the picture expanded across the screen, the strains of "God Save the Queen" filled the room.
"Oh, do turn it off," said the Queen Mum. "Unless one is there and listening to it being played it's so embarrassing — like hearing the Lord's Prayer when playing canasta."

Warns of Trim on Children's Clothes

Mrs. Mary Brooks Picken, sometimes regarded as the "mother of modern home sewing," recently offered this advice: "When planning to make or buy a child's dress, think of how it will look after it has been laundered once, then after 20 washings."
This expert cautions against using trimmings which won't stand up through repeated washings in soap or detergent suds.

Boy Blackmails Mother by Throwing Divorce at Her

BY DR. EVE JONES

Dear Dr. Jones: I have been divorced three years now. But everytime I have any sort of argument with my 7-year-old son, he starts crying and accuses me of throwing his father out. Wouldn't you think by now that he'd realize it was his father's idea to leave, not mine?

How can I stop him from harping on this. It doesn't seem to make an impression on him for me to tell him he's wrong. Mrs. V. S.

Stop listening to the words and begin hearing the music of his harp-song. He's partly telling you that he's afraid you might throw him out, too. If you get angry enough with him. And he's also playing on your defensiveness about your divorce so he can make you feel guilty about correcting him.

Don't bother arguing with him. Instead, tell him you love him and you aren't going to get rid of him, but you also won't let him be naughty. Then drop the subject completely. For more information about how to raise your child in a fatherless home, see the books whose names are being sent to you.

Dear Dr. Jones: I have two children, a boy 9 and a girl, 3

Dr. Jones

They used to get along fine. But now they keep picking on each other. She will scream and call him a bad boy. He will keep right up with her — not screaming, but just bothering her. I have told him to leave her alone and to ignore her. I tell him that he's older and this will show that he's smarter than she is. Also it will make her leave him alone. But no, he won't do this. Help please! What should I do?

I should mention that she also fights constantly with the other children when she plays outside. One thing she doesn't do, though, is tell on the other ones. She sticks up for her own rights.

Mrs. F. R.

Change the entire pattern. Tell her she may not fight with anyone. She must either come tell you when someone is bothering her or she must leave and go play by herself. Tell your son the same thing, with the added reminder that he's too old to play with his sister and must play with children his own age. Separate them whenever they start bickering. Once they learn you won't permit them to get you involved in playing judge of who's right and who's wrong, they'll stop this pointless game of bickering — assuming that neither one has a real grievance against you.

A. So you can check the fit of the dress. You must have your marking stitches on the center front and back to be certain that these points are placed properly on your figure. Without them you can only guess.

Q. Should I use shoulder pads when fitting a garment? Miss M. D.

A. Only when you intend to use shoulder pads on the finished garment.

always pulls and forms wrinkles on the outer sleeve, in addition to being uncomfortable. Miss C. M.

A. After you have slipped the lining into the sleeve, turn the sleeve and lining so that the lining is outside. Fold the lining under with the fold line about 1/2 inch above the bottom of the sleeve. Pin it to the jacket about one inch above the fold line. Form a pleat at the bottom edge of the lining, making a line of slip-stitching at least 1/4 inch underneath the fold. This pleat will prevent the pulling. When slip-stitching, be careful to catch only the layer of lining next to the jacket. Don't let the stitches go through to the right side. (See illustration).

Q. To save time when using an underlining, can you put the underlining fabric over the dress fabric and cut them together instead of separately? Miss V. T.

A. I don't advise it. One of the layers could possibly slip and throw it off grain. Cut each separately.

Q. What is the difference between interlining and interfacing? Mrs. F. M.

A. Interlining is usually used for warmth in a coat, but it can also serve as a shaping material. This is cut to match the garment pieces and is placed between the lining and the garment. Interfacing is a piece of shaping material that is generally cut in the shape of the facing. This is placed between the facing and the garment.

Q. I have your pattern alteration booklet but I'm not sure which adjustment to use for my problem. My clothes all droop from the neck to the lower part of the arm curve? What causes this? Mrs. L. O.

A. It sounds as though you have sloping shoulders. Try this alteration, using a piece of unbleached muslin to test it.

Emphysema's Damage To Lungs Permanent

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner: I enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 10 cents in coin for your booklet, "How to Control Emphysema," but here is my special question:
We lived in Illinois until retirement, and then moved to the Pacific Coast. Nearly a year ago my husband gave up smoking. Three weeks ago he developed emphysema. Some doctors here say the dampness caused the trouble. Some say it is from smoking. Another says allergy. All think we should move inland, away from the ocean. I would appreciate your comment. — Mrs. H.F.B.

what I can tell you that will help.
Emphysema is lack of ability of the lungs to inhale and then exhale a sufficient volume of air with each breath. The lungs have lost some of their elasticity—the booklet will explain all that.
Now if the lungs have difficulty in breathing in and out, such interferences as asthma or bronchitis will make the problem worse.

I don't for a moment think that your husband "developed" emphysema three weeks ago. It doesn't develop quickly. So let's say, instead, that three weeks ago he finally discovered that his shortness of breath was from emphysema.
Not "Causes"
There's no doubt that his smoking, over the years, contributed to it. I doubt that either allergy or the dampness at sea had anything to do with causing the emphysema. But either or both may be causing some added difficulty in breathing.
Perhaps you should move inland, perhaps not. Your husband won't get over the emphysema by doing so, because the disease isn't something you "get over." It is a slow, permanent change in the elasticity of the lung tissues. You don't hunt for a cure because none is known. Rather, your goal is to prevent it from getting worse, and to keep it from being too bothersome.

My advice is not to pick up and move inland on the spur of the moment. Rather, can't you arrange to take a trip, or visit friends, or find some way of spending enough time away from the sea, so you can tell by experience whether your husband breathes more easily? That's the true test of whether a change of climate will be helpful.
Dear Dr. Molner: Could the amount of lead used to solder a broken teakettle affect boiling water inside enough to be harmful to a human adult or fetus? Someone told me a young human fetus absorbs lead readily. —MRS. S.

Goodness! The amount of trouble caused by "someone." Never mind. If you want to know, keep asking me, and I'll answer to the best of my ability.
For this one: The water in a soldered teakettle doesn't absorb enough lead to be toxic. Lead poisoning is dangerous for anyone of any age, but the lead has to get into the system before it can do any damage. For practical purposes, nearly all cases of lead poisoning, these days, result from small children chewing on (and swallowing) particles of lead paint. Outside paint, used indoors where a baby can gnaw on a window ledge or something like that, is the big danger. Soldered teakettle? No danger if you don't eat the teakettle.

Note to Mrs. A. K.: Yes, diabetes, if not treated over a considerable time, decidedly has an effect on causing cataracts.
Of all the problems that pediatricians encounter in children, pinworm is the commonest. To learn the newest methods of treatment for this pest, write to the Post-Crescent for the booklet, "The Commonest Pest, Pinworm," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover printing and handling.

Today's Etiquette
BY LOUISE DAVIS
"SILENCE IS GOLDEN"
Dear Louise: I am past president of a teen age fraternal group of boys. When we had our installation one Sunday last spring, all of our parents were in the audience along with a few relatives and close friends. I got up on the platform and said, "I want you all to see and meet my parents." There was much clapping as they stood up. Then I said, "I want my girl to stand up too." She did, but nobody clapped. I think the girl was hurt and you can be sure I was embarrassed. Don't you think that people in the audience were rude not to clap? Louise Davis Answers:

I think that you will eventually realize that you learned a lesson and won't be so impulsive in the future about going off the beam. All those in the audience couldn't have been out of step. Your installation meeting was not the time or place to announce your best girl is at an unorganized gathering of friends. Even then, no announcement is necessary.

Wife Recovering Rather Well After Large Overdose of Ginger

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You asked me to let you know how things are going so here I am.

Remember when my husband moved that trampy girl into our house and told the kids Cousin Ginger was going to stay with us until she found a job. Well, that's when I thought I was having a heart attack and the doctor said it was just a muscle spasm brought on by nerves. You advised me to pack the girl's things — and my husband's things, too — and leave them on the porch.

My husband said I was forcing him to make a choice and he was choosing Ginger. I told him it was all right with me but I would not give him a divorce. He then said, "It sounds like you've been getting advice from that nutty Ann Landers." The children and I have been much happier since he left. My blood pressure is down 40 points.

Landers

and the kids have stopped having nightmares.

My husband phoned yesterday to say he just got a promotion and was moving out of the state. He is taking Ginger with him. What shall I tell him? — Lottie

Dear Lottie: Tell him to be sure and write every month—even if it's only a check. And see a lawyer before he screws.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please overlook the misspelled words and the coffee I just spilled on the letter. I am going to dry it out and send it. If I start over I'll never mail it. Our oldest son is 33, unmarried and in the Army. We've been hoping Everett would find a nice girl and settle down.

Everett telephoned last night from Texas. He said, "I've met her at last. She's the loveliest girl in the world. We are getting married this weekend." I was thrilled. Then he said, "I think I ought to tell you she is pregnant and that the baby isn't mine. But I want to marry her anyway."

I thought I was hearing things. Ann, like maybe someone else's conversation was hooked into our line. I said, "Please son, repeat that." Well, he said it again, the very same thing.

Both my husband and I are in a daze. Do you think this girl loves Everett or is she trying to trap him? What should we tell our friends about the baby? Please help us. — State of Shock

Dear State: If Everett is 33, he's old enough to know what he's doing. Hope for the best, give them your blessings and wish him luck. (He'll need it.) In the meantime, the fewer details to family and friends, the better.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I went over to my girl's house last night (Tina is 16 and I am 17) and their hi-fi is in the basement so that's where we were.

When I sat down on the sofa I heard a terrible curnching sound. Tina screamed "My gosh you've sat on Herman and the Hermits. And especially my favorite one — Mrs. Brown You Have a Lovely Daughter." With that she gave me a sock on the head. My ear rang for fifteen minutes.

I tried to apologize but she wouldn't listen. Finally I said, "Look records don't belong on chairs to begin with." She kicked me in the ankle and ordered me to leave.

I phoned Tina this morning but she hung up on me. What should I do now? I really dig this chick. — Al

Dear Al: This chick has a nasty temper and no self-control. This is a dangerous combination. With a little luck you might lose her altogether.

Unsure of yourself on dates? What's right? What's wrong? Should you? Shouldn't you? Send for Ann Landers' booklet "Dating Do's and Don'ts," enclosing with your request 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Knowles Reviews Legislative Year

Governor Sees Highly Productive Conclusion as End of Dull Session

MADISON (AP) — The first session of the 1965 Legislature was as unpredictable as the weather in the other 49 states. It saw periods of calm, of brief partisan storms, of long stifling doldrums.

Yet the session ended in the midst of a whirlwind that transformed an unimpressive seven months into a highly productive legislative session.

Every analyst will have his own explanation for the success of my programs in the legislature. Each will have his own definition of my leadership.

However, I believe the essential factors in leadership, where it relates to the legislative process, include an attitude of cooperation, the preparation of sound programs, and the sense of timing necessary to bring the programs to the point of action at the most favorable time. The record of affirmative action on my programs would seem to bear me out.

State of State
In my state of the State message on Jan. 13, I emphasized my willingness to meet with individual legislators or their leadership to discuss my legislative programs.

I stated that: "My door remains open and, while I am cognizant of the fact that we will not agree in all areas, still I believe that men of good will, honest in their desires to serve the people, can find means to achieve satisfactory solutions in those areas of major concern."

In that state of the State message, I outlined the legislative programs that I hoped to see enacted during the session. Most of these same programs became the subject of my latest special message too.

Four days prior to the end of the session, I went before the legislators to ask for prompt action on a list of priority programs.

Gratifying Reaction
The response was most gratifying. The final four days of the legislative session saw positive action on all eight of the education bills I listed as part of my priority program.

The difficult and time consuming work, study and public hearings had already been completed by the legislative committees. My address to the Legislature near the close of the session was timed to spur the legislators into taking up the bills for final action.

Collectively, these education bills represent sweeping changes in the state's system of higher education — particularly in the field of vocational and technical education.

I believe that what has been done by this Legislature to strengthen or to change the course of higher education will have a positive and lasting influence on the future of our state.

The adoption of major portions of my program for improved traffic safety in Wisconsin represents the first real accomplishment in this critical area for many years. The legislation adopted does not provide the whole answer, but it was difficult enough to achieve in a divided Legislature.

Hopes For Fall
It does represent a significant beginning and I am hopeful that the remainder of my recommendations — adoption of an implied consent law and compulsory vehicle inspection — will receive positive action in the fall session.

Significant progress was Little Chute Man Fined After Mishap

LITTLE CHUTE — Jerry L. Weber, 24, 129 Willow St., Little Chute, pleaded guilty to inattentive driving when arraigned before Raymond Sanders, municipal justice, Monday night and was fined $20.

Weber was arrested after being involved in an accident about 11 p.m. Saturday in which a woman complained of a neck injury.

made in other areas through legislation. For example, the Legislature passed a bill altering the selection of county board members to conform with the "one man, one vote" principle and it established a temporary commission on government reorganization.

The most prominent issue of this legislative session, of course, was the budget-tax controversy.

After a long, slow process, the matter was resolved with a bill that avoided gimmicks and which instead included my recommendation for income tax ward.

Refreshments at Theatres Taxed, State Ruling Says

MADISON — The popcorn, soft drinks, coffee and other auxiliary items sold in theatres and at outdoor theatres are subject to the state sales tax levy, the Wisconsin state board of tax appeals has ruled in one of the first cases of its kind reviewed since the enactment of the state sales tax law.

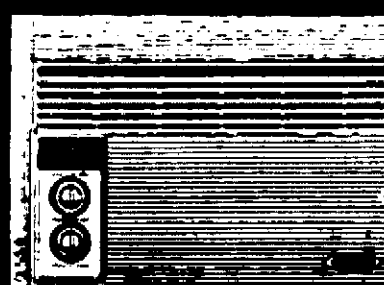

ment against the National Amusement company, involving sales at its theatres in Jefferson and Fort Atkinson, Jefferson County. The proceedings disclosed what many theatre patrons have guessed from their observations — that the receipts from such sales represent a substantial part of the operating income of theatres.

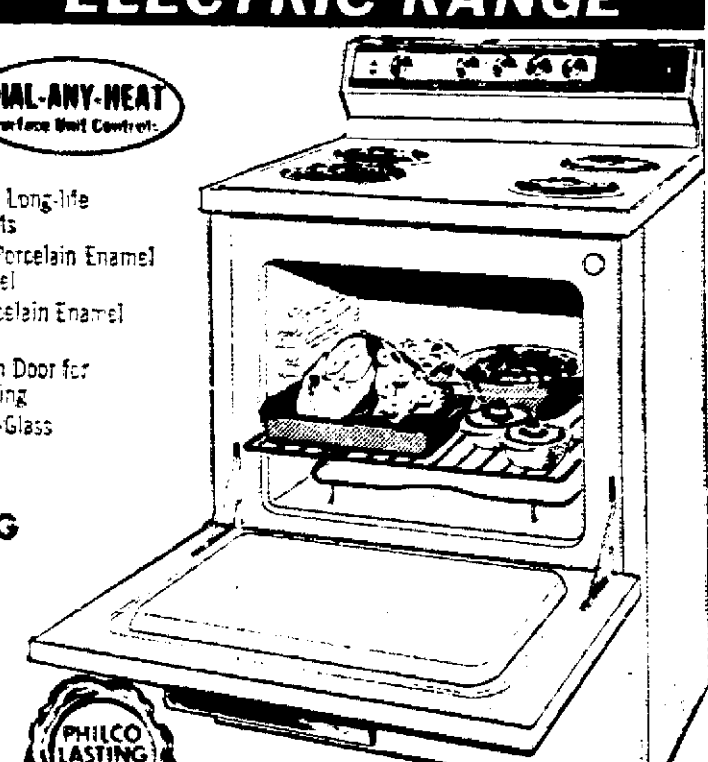

The tax appeals board held that the 3 per cent state tax on sales receipts applies to food, food products, and beverages sold for direct consumption "on or off the premises."

Guerrillas Suspected of Using Chemical, Biological Warfare

BY ROBERT S. ALLEN AND PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — U.S. military authorities in Saigon are on alert for possible chemical and biological warfare by Communist forces in the growing Viet Nam conflict.

While the White House has clamped a tight secrecy lid on all intelligence on this new threat to U.S. forces, these ominous developments can be reported:

— Mortar and artillery shells containing chemical warheads have been captured by the South Vietnamese and are being examined by U.S. experts.

— South Vietnamese and U.S. troops have become seriously ill after drinking water believed to have been contaminated by Viet Cong guerrillas.

— U.S. servicemen have suffered internal bleeding caused by fine pieces of glass frozen into ice and served at U.S. messes and in Saigon restaurants and bars.

Terror Campaign
According to reliable congressional sources, intelligence authorities report that this deadly type of warfare appears to be an integral part of the Communists' stepped-up terror campaign to drive U.S. forces from South Viet Nam.

The intelligence officials are warning that the North Vietnamese, aided by Soviet and Chinese technicians, now have the capability to conduct widespread chemical and biological warfare.

A special report of the Central Intelligence Agency flatly states that "mass poisoning of water reservoirs, bacteriological warfare and mass infection with typhus — using bacteria supplied by the Chemical Directorate of the Soviet Ministry of Defense — represents types of clandestine destructive techniques available to the North Vietnamese."

Tamper With Water
U.S. medical authorities in Saigon are quietly investigating to ascertain whether an increase in typhus cases among South Vietnamese troops and civilians since the first of the year is traceable to Viet Cong tampering with water supplies.

They have documented accounts of both U.S. and South Vietnamese troops being stricken after drinking water contaminated by the Viet Cong, but so far none of the typhus cases have been attributed to their covert activities.

The shells containing chemical warheads were discovered in the ammunition supplies taken from a 100-ton North Vietnamese ship sunk by U.S. naval units in shallow coastal waters north of Saigon.

Soviet Arms
This Red vessel was intercepted while carrying latest-model Soviet and Chinese arms from North Viet Nam to Communist Viet Cong forces operating in South Viet Nam.

Markings on the shells and captured documents clearly indicate the weapons were part of a much larger shipment of chemical and biological warfare supplies furnished the North Vietnamese by Russia. This shipment reportedly arrived at Haiphong via a Soviet freighter last January.

While U.S. military officials have a wide variety of chemical and biological weapons that could be used in South Viet Nam, all are banned due to the adverse public reaction stirred up last year when non-lethal tear gas was employed.

The Communists mounted a worldwide campaign falsely accusing the U.S. of using poisonous gas. It was so successful that President Johnson, on the recommendation of Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara, banned this non-lethal gas despite the fact that it was the most humane weapon being used in Viet Nam by either side.

Influence President
Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, Mont., played a major backstage role in President Johnson's decision not to call up the military reserves at this time.

The President temporarily shelved a Joint Chiefs of Staff proposal to use the reserves after Senator Mansfield made a dramatic plea against such action during a bipartisan White House meeting of legislative leaders.

Reading from two pages of handwritten notes, Sen. Mansfield startled the other legislators by contending a call-up of reserves would be "politically, economically and militarily unwise." He pointed out that many of the reserves have "twice been summoned to military duty by Democratic presidents since the end of World War II."

Mansfield, who favors establishment of a neutralist government in Saigon, told the President he was making the statement in behalf of himself and several other liberal Democratic senators.

The President said he would carefully consider Mansfield's statement before making a final decision. The Joint Chiefs, who had been informed by the White House earlier in the day that the President would increase the draft and call up reserve units, were told only a few hours before his press conference announcement that plans had been altered.

Opposed Addition
Of the congressional leaders present, Mansfield was the only one who opposed using the military reserves to bolster U.S.

forces in Viet Nam. "Congress and the American people will support every decision that you must make of them," After the President indicated he planned to increase the draft,

Sen. Richard Russell, D-Ga., chairman of the Armed Services Committee, stated that both single and married men should be drafted. (Copyright, 1965)

Three Unions Call for River Beautification

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three labor unions claiming to represent more than two million members have called for federal help to beautify the Hudson River.

The International Ladies Garment Workers, the United Auto Workers and the Amalgamated Meat Cutters filed statements with a House Interior subcommittee which held hearings last weekend.

Resident Takes Over Control of Traffic

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — Police have told Romulo Martinez to stop blockading West Houghton Street.

He had blocked the street with his car to prevent wrong-way traffic on the one-way street in front of his house. He said police weren't citing violators. Officers said they were making routine patrols of the street.

Egan Pitches 4-Hitter in State Title Contest

JANESVILLE -- The Janesville team scored a 7-4 victory over Appleton Tuesday to win the state Babe Ruth tournament title. Janesville will next compete in the national regional in Owensboro, Ky. Appleton opened with a 3-run first inning splurge, but Janesville tied the score in the second and iced the decision with four runs in the fifth. Jim Egan hurled a 4-hitter for the win. Paul Mueller, who gave seven hits, took the loss. Appleton catcher Tim Petermann hurt an ankle sliding into second base and had to be replaced by Gary Kuehn. In the Appleton first inning, Billy DeMars walked and stole both second and third. After a strikeout, Tom Birk walked and stole second. DeMars scored on a ground-out. Don Brinkman singled home the second run, and Bill Stroess accounted for the third tally with a single. Janesville 030 040 0-7 4 Appleton 300 001 0-4 1

Braves Booked For Twin Bill

Alston Cites Part Played by Gilliam In Dodger Success

MILWAUKEE (AP) -- Manager Walt Alston of the first-place Los Angeles Dodgers confessed Tuesday night that he had an inkling Junior Gilliam might be more than just a coach before the 1965 season ended. "When we appointed him a coach, we fully intended to keep him there," said Alston after rain had washed out the opener of the crucial Dodgers-Braves series at County Stadium. "But I thought that late in the year, in August or September, if I needed a little help, he'd be available. "But with all the injuries we had, we had to activate him before we planned to do it," Alston said. Calling the veteran, "a pretty good clutch man," Alston said Gilliam, batting .285, has been "a helluva factor" in the Dodgers' success. The Dodgers, who will make up the rained out game tonight as part of a hastily scheduled two-night doubleheader, have remained on top despite the loss of Tommy Davis, their biggest run producer. Davis suffered a broken ankle earlier in the season. The cast was removed from Davis' leg this week, but it will be two more weeks before the Dodgers know when he'll be able to return to uniform. "I would have to guess he couldn't do much more than pinch hit this season," Alston said. Alston said from what he has seen the Braves' pitching appears to have improved. "But," he added, "we don't score too many runs off anybody."

Milwaukee County Suit to Challenge Braves '66 Move

Anti-Trust Action Is Do-or-Die Bid to Keep Baseball in City

By JAMES R. POLK MILWAUKEE (AP) -- Milwaukee, spurred by its one-time sweetheart, has gone to court with a suicide squeeze against baseball -- an antitrust suit challenging the Braves' 1966 move to Atlanta. The suit amounts to a do-or-die bid to keep major league baseball in the city that once embraced the Braves with record crowds in a love affair which paled after only 12 years. Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick as much as said the separation would be final if the suit failed. Frick and National League President Warren Giles both offered unruffled reactions to the suit. But an executive of one club said, "it embarrasses all of baseball."

Should Milwaukee County win the suit, the implications could be revolutionary -- and costly. A court victory for Milwaukee could challenge not only baseball's system of awarding franchises, but also its lucrative television take, the various tax advantages in current book-keeping practices and the important reserve clause in contract. Completion Expected in October Construction Underway at Fox Valley

BY ED VAN BERKEL Post-Crescent Staff Writer KAUKAUNA -- Construction of a new 18-hole Fox Valley Golf Club, at State Highway 55 and County Trunk UU, five miles north of Kaukauna, and two miles south of Freedom, got underway this morning, according to Robert Minkebig, club president. Plans call for the course to have watered fairways and weather permitting, construction is expected to be completed by the middle of October. It is expected that play on the new course will be permitted in late May, 1966. The existing 9-hole course has been sold to the Van Daelwyk Land Corporation. Play on the present course will be permitted on all holes until Sept. 20 when the last three holes must be vacated. Play will continue on the remainder of the holes until sometime in October and the clubhouse must be vacated on Oct. 16. Fox Valley Golf Club was re-organized in 1945 and play continued at the site in Combined Locks until conditions became over-crowded in the early 1960's resulting in members voting in 1964 to sell the old course and begin a new 18-hole unit. FAVOR A SLICE The new course will be constructed on a rolling terrain with periodic knolls and some wooded area. There will be a creek, three small lakes and one large lake on the course and golfers will be crossing water on nine of the 18 holes. One hole will necessitate crossing water twice while the No. 8 hole will find golfers shooting over 65 yards of water to reach the green. There will be 16 doglegs on the course and all greens will be trapped by water or sand. Fairways will have sandtraps and the overall course will be designed to favor golfers with a slight slice. Regulation yardage will be 6,100 yards and championship yardage 6,600 yards. Par will be 72 with four par 3 holes, 10 par 4's and four par 5's. Tees will be about 25 by 120 feet. The course will be laid out on 150 acres of land with a small wooded area to be reserved as a picnic site. Two wells will be dug to serve for watering fairways and clubhouse use. Greens will average 8,000 square feet, so measuring 100 by 100 feet and some 75 by 100 feet. Wide fairways will be utilized to prevent balls from straying into other fairways creating unnecessary hazards. Contractor for the course is E. G. Lockie Associates Inc., Bettendorf, Iowa, who has built Mid-Valley, Mystery Hills, and Fox Hills, all in this area. 325 Membership Plans call for a membership of 325 and existing membership is 220. It is anticipated there will be 300 family memberships and 25 single memberships. Annual dues are expected to be $130. Persons interested in joining can secure application forms from Don Erdman at the Fox Valley Golf Club pro shop. Lambert Schommmer is serving as coordinator of committees for the building program while Robert Derus is in charge of greens and grounds. Present plans call for a moderate clubhouse as the main financial expenditure will be utilized to provide the best possible playing course. A driving range about 100 by 200 yards will be constructed as will a large practice green and pro shop. Access to the property is available from Highway 55, County Trunk UU, or Weyers Road.

Year's Top Crowd Sees Zink Win

BY MIKE WALTER Post-Crescent Staff Writer

The largest Goodland Field crowd of the year went home somewhat disillusioned Tuesday night as the Fox Cities Foxes collided with a former teammate and came out second best. The crowd -- 5,669 -- was on hand for Lloyd Berken's "Piggly Wiggly Night," which featured hundreds of give-aways throughout the game. The former teammate -- Decatur's Tom Zink, who toiled for the Foxes last year -- pitched strong ball for most of eight innings to lead the ninth-place Commodores to a 9-4 win and pick up his seventh victory of the season. The teams will meet again at 8 p.m. tonight in the second of the 3-game set. Zink had able relief help from Art Dawson, who set the Foxes down before too much damage had been done over the last two frames, and leadoff batter Val Bush, who went 4-for-5, including a long home run and three runs batted in. Pawlowicz Starts Hank Pawlowicz started for the Foxes, was parted from one run in the first inning and left in the fourth after yielding four straight singles. Lance Tobert, Larry Connell and Duane Wilkerson finished up, with only Wilkerson escaping unscathed. The Foxes were down, 6-0, when they managed to push across their first marker in the seventh and 9-1 when they added three more in the eighth and chased Zink. Bob Connolly, the only Fox to get two hits and the only Fox to get any hit off Zink until the sixth, led off the seventh with a near home run. He had to settle for a double, however, as the ball hit high on the left field wall. He scored shortly after on Wally Birchler's line single to center. Jim Rouse, pinch-hitting for Connell, started off the Foxes' 3-run eighth with a single. He was forced at second by Dick Hickerson, but Hickerson scored on a Zink wild pitch and Curt Motton's long double to straight-away center. Connolly followed with a walk and Zink, after wild pitching the runners to second and third, gave way to Dawson. Elmore Hill greeted the lefty with a double into the right field corner, plating two runs. Dawson finished strongly, though, setting the Foxes down 1-2-3 in the ninth. A single by Bush and double by Bruce Hix produced the Commodores' run in the first. They added three more in the Chicago Cub pitcher Bill Faul apparently has the whole National League spooked. Faul is the Detroit Tiger disc who has eviled his way into the Cubs' starting rotation with a string of shutout pitching that would frighten any hitter. The young right-hander, who claims his secret is hypnosis, blanked the Philadelphia Phillies on just two hits Tuesday night and drove in a run with a single in the Cubs' 2-0 victory. "I hypnotize myself before the game, and I'm then able to hypnotize the hitters," Faul said later. "I was really concentrating in my subconscious state on the mound."

Phil Under Spell

It certainly looked like Faul had the Phillies under some kind of spell. After Wes Covington's double in the second and Tony Gonzales' single in the third, Faul did not permit another baserunner, retiring the last 19 batters he faced. Packers Get No. 1 Draftee in Return Lions Sign Ron Kramer

DETROIT (AP) -- Former University of Michigan basketball, track and football great Ron Kramer, who has wanted a berth on a Detroit team for years, finally made it Tuesday when he signed a one-year contract with the Detroit Lions. "It's tremendous. Everything has worked out tremendously," said Kramer, the 240-pound pass-catcher who called it quits last year after his eighth National Football League season with the Green Bay Packers. Tuesday night, the east Detroit native had nothing but praise for the Packers and Coach Vince Lombardi. He said he "enjoyed every minute" of the Green Bay career which saw him on two NFL championship teams. "But right now, I'm looking forward to many good seasons here with the Lions and with Harry Gilmer," Gilmer, Detroit head coach, also faces his first season with the club. It was Gilmer who announced that Kramer had signed a one-year contract, and it was Gilmer who disclosed that the long-time offensive end would start training today on defense. The Lions already have a fine tight end in Jim Gibbons, who caught 45 passes for 605 yards and eight touchdowns last year and was voted the Lions' most valuable player. Kramer's best year with the Packers was 1962, when he snared 37 for 555 yards and seven touchdowns. Kramer, just turned 30, played out his option with the Packers last year and officially became a free agent May 1. He said he would retire if he couldn't get a spot with the Lions. "There were family problems that simply made it imperative that I be with my family all year around," Kramer said. "I just couldn't play for any other team." Kramer said one of his two sons, 6-year-old Curtis, suffered an eye injury last year. The boy has undergone one operation and may need others. "After my early years with training today on defense. # Twins, Washington Divide Twin Bill; Baltimore Wins, 5-2

Zimmer Sheds Horns as Nats Bounce Back in Nightcap, 4-2

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Washington's Zimmer, who has had plenty of ups and downs in his 12 years as a major leaguer, shrugged off goat horns Tuesday night and led the Senators to a 4-2 victory over the Orioles in the second game of a doubleheader.

The American League-leading Twins, playing without injured runs with a sacrifice fly and his star Harmon Killebrew, took the 15th homer and Norm Siebern opener 4-3, scoring the deciding delivered a pair with a double run on third baseman Zimmer's and single, leading the Orioles double error in the seventh inning. Zimmer made amends with a picked up the victory, his 10th, tie-breaking two-run double in the fifth inning of the nightcap and left-hander Mike McCormick made the margin stand up with a six-hitter.

The doubleheader split, coupled with Baltimore's 5-2 victory over the Los Angeles Angels, trimmed Minnesota's league lead over the second-place Orioles to 5½ games.

Nine Runs in Fifth
Elsewhere, Chicago edged New York 3-2 on Ron Hansen's bases-loaded triple; Detroit struck for nine runs in the fifth inning and buried Cleveland 12-7, and Boston routed Kansas City 10-5 with an extra base at bat that included four triples.

Zimmer, 34-year-old trouble-shooter for Gil Hodges' Senators, is no stranger to adversity. While at St. Paul in 1953, he was beamed by a fastball and nearly lost the sight of his left eye but bounced back to win a job with the Brooklyn Dodgers the next season.

Another errant pitch broke his checkbook in 1956 but he was back in the lineup 10 days later. Then, after six years with the Dodgers and National League stints at Chicago, New York, Cincinnati and Los Angeles, he came to the Senators in 1963 and has been the team's handyman ever since.

Used Everywhere
Hodges has used the 5-foot-9 pitcher at third, second, short, in the outfield and — most recently — behind the plate.

Pressed into duty as a catcher during spring training, Zimmer broke the middle finger on his right hand in his third game — and was back catching a week later.

He was at third Tuesday night to cause regular Ken McMullen is nursing an injured hand.

Zimmer was nursing a fractured fielding average after committing three errors in the opener, including the costly bobbles in the seventh when he batted Zoilo Versalles' grounder and then threw wildly as pitcher

Jim Grant raced home from first with the Twins' fourth run. The first of Frank Howard's two homers in the twin bill pulled the Senators within one run in the eighth but Grant got his 13th victory, tops in the league, with relief help from Bill Pleis and Al Worthington.

Versalles evened the nightcap at 2-2 with a two-run homer in the third inning but Zimmer's double broke the tie after singles by Willie Kirkland and Dick Nen in the fifth.

Curt Blefary drove in two runs with a sacrifice fly and his 15th homer and Norm Siebern opener 4-3, scoring the deciding delivered a pair with a double run on third baseman Zimmer's and single, leading the Orioles double error in the seventh inning. Zimmer made amends with a picked up the victory, his 10th, tie-breaking two-run double in the fifth inning of the nightcap and left-hander Mike McCormick made the margin stand up with a six-hitter.

Hansen's three-run double off Mel Stottlemyre with two out in the fourth inning erased a 2-0 lead over the Los Angeles Angels. New York lead and knuckleballer Eddie Fisher wrapped it up for the White Sox with 2-2 scoreless relief innings John Buzhardt was the winner, boosting his career record against the Yankees to 6-0.

The Tigers strafed rookie Steve Hargan and two successors for eight hits — two by Bill Freehan — in the fifth inning explosion after Cleveland had broken to a 7-2 early lead. Freehan started the rally with a double and singled home two runs before the inning was over. Reliever Terry Fox checked the Indians on one run over the final five innings.

Wilson accounted for Boston's last three runs with his fourth homer of the season in the seventh inning. Triples by Lennie Green, Russ Nixon, Rico Petrocelli and Carl Yastrzemski helped the Red Sox build a 10-4 lead before the A's finally got to Wilson, now 8-8, for three runs in the eighth and a two-run homer by Bill Bryan in the ninth.

Starr Connects With Dowler for 50-Yard Pass in Scrimmage

GREEN BAY (AP) — The rookie tight end, who the Green Bay Packers thought might replace Ron Kramer, was lost to the National Football League last Tuesday.

Allen Brown, 6-foot-4½, 250 pounds, underwent emergency surgery for a dislocated left shoulder, said Dr. James Nelson.

Dr. Nelson who performed the operation said Brown would remain hospitalized for about a week but he would be out of action for 60 days and probably three months or more.

In scrimmages Tuesday, quarterback Bart Starr connected with Boyd Dowler for a 50-yard touchdown pass and rookie Bill Symons of Colorado sparked in the running attack.

Unanimous Council Vote

City Stadium Will be Renamed for Lambeau

GREEN BAY (AP) — The City Council voted unanimously Tuesday night to change the name of Green Bay's City Stadium to Lambeau Field in honor of the late E. L. (Curly) Lambeau, founder of the Green Bay Packers of the National Football League.

Lambeau, who coached the Packers for 31 years, died June 1. He was 67.

On July 6, the City Council at the request of the City Stadium Commission named a citizen's committee to investigate the possibility of constructing a museum type building at the stadium to honor Lambeau. The committee recommended that the stadium be renamed immediately for Lambeau. It offered to go into the details of the museum idea if so directed.

Lambeau was one of the founders of the National Football League. Before his retirement and after leaving the Packers he coached the Washington Redskins of the NFL for several seasons.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Walt Bond, outfielder-first baseman of the Houston Astros, suffered injuries to the chest and right arm Tuesday night when he crashed into the wall after making a sensational leaping catch against the St. Louis Cardinals.

Bond was sent to Jewish Hospital for X rays of the ribs in the right side of the chest and of the right elbow.

A limping Brooks Tolbert was wondering why he couldn't pull a "Nippy Jones" in the sixth. He bounced out to first in that frame, but insisted he had been hit by his own foul ball. Limping around, Tolbert coaxed the umpires into checking the ball for shoe polish, but none was found and the nut stood. Jones successfully made the same plea for the Milwaukee Braves in the 1958 world series and was awarded first base for having been hit by a pitch.

Four boys -- Art, Bob Carl, and Dick--left a dance one evening, and each of these boys, by mistake, took the hat belonging to another boy and a coat belonging to still another boy. The boy who took Dick's hat took Carl's coat. The hat Let us increase our vocabulary taken by Carl belonged to the owner of the coat taken by day. Dick. Art took Bob's hat. Now can you determine who must have taken Art's coat?

Answer: One boy took Dick's hat and Carl's coat. Since each boy took someone else's hat and coat, this had to be either Bob or Art. Since we are told Art took Bob's hat, Bob took Dick's hat and Carl's coat. Since Carl did not get his own hat, he must have taken Art's hat. Since we are told that the hat taken by Carl (which belonged to Art) belong- ed to the owner of the coat taken by Dick, then Dick must have taken Art's coat.

What We Suspected Comes True

The senseless debate which took place in the state legislature over a period of months, before the two parties could agree with Governor Knowles on tax and spending policies for the biennium, was concerned with the state elections in 1966 rather than how Wisconsin was going to exist for the next two years. And the issue had been settled for only a few days before the Democrats launched their campaign to make political capital of the result.

Assembly Speaker Robert Huber, the Democrat from West Allis, comes forth with the claim that his party's insistence on a surtax to solve the financing crisis was only a dodge to get the kind of tax bill the Democrats really wanted. Huber declares that the Republicans were "scared stiff" of a surtax and thus "would accept concessions to avoid it."

But if the Democrats long holdout for a surtax was only a ploy, how will Speaker Huber explain the long arguments members of his party put forth in support of such a taxing measure both on the floor of the assembly and in the many committee deliberations?

And can not Governor Knowles as easily declare that his insistence on a broadening of the selective sales tax was an effort to force the Democrats into concessions?

We have remarked on previous occasions that most of the people of Wisconsin experienced a vast boredom with the antics of the antagonists over fiscal policy. But for those who did follow the maneuvers carefully the positions of the parties were crystal clear and no amount of oratory now will change them.

The Republicans stood for a broadening and a balancing of the tax load through a combination of converting the selective sales tax into a general one plus minor increases in income tax rates.

The Democrats stood for not only higher income taxes but an increase in their progressivity, as exemplified in a surtax.

Both parties were faced with the inextricable fact that taxes had to be raised. Both parties agreed early in the debate on the approximate total in the necessary budget. In the end, taxes were raised and both parties were equally responsible.

It is difficult to conceive how either party is going to get much mileage out of this situation at the polls a year from now. And neither Speaker Huber nor anyone else, including Governor Knowles, is going to be able to change the records the parties have made.

McNamara's Cost-Cutting May Be Affecting Effort in Viet Nam

BY HENRY J. TAYLOR

It's not what Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara said on his return from Viet Nam that worries so many of our high-ranking officers. It's what he doesn't say that profoundly concerns them about the preparedness of the United States.

Taylor

In fact, some feel that either Mr. McNamara should put on five stars and fight the war in Viet Nam all by himself or not hold them responsible.

Mr. McNamara's famous cost-paring has been achieved chiefly in two ways: by stretching out procurement programs and by stripping equipment and inventories from our combat forces elsewhere to supply the needs in Viet Nam.

By dominating the strategic concepts, in which he, the Whiz Kids and their computers alike are all untrained, the stretch-out system has shown up fine in the McNamara figures. But what happens if Mr. McNamara, his Whiz Kids and the computers are dead wrong in their timing?

DEFENSE MUST EXIST
The only defense that counts is the defense that exists — not a defense that is stretched out.

This column recently pointed to Mr. McNamara's Congressional testimony (repeatedly postponed) regarding the Khrushchev confrontation in which he all but said our great armed forces couldn't have invaded Cuba! He stated we were caught "terribly short" of fighter planes, transport vessels and escort war vessels "which we'd have needed to invade Cuba."

This should make us wonder where our billions went and we have a right to know where our billions are going now.

Are we better prepared to "think big" than we are prepared to go to actual war?

Mr. McNamara has stated, for example, that the U. S. infantrymen of the future will jump 30 feet in the air, aided by a jet-propelled belt. What love to play the game also. I wish they could afford about four more red carts to do us all a favor and you also. This man in the red cart may have saved you from a ball in the head or mouth.

Why do you object to leaving golfers go through?

While they go through, you can visit and get that much more fresh air and watch how to walk on a golf course and watch them smile.

Most of us don't smile and grin constant or we'd have two white-coated men in a cart to give us a lift.

You can get a lot of fresh air out at a driving range and visit and not hold anyone up (unless this summer).

I agree 100 per cent about hours set aside on a golf course for twice a year golfers and 10 p.m. to 2 a.m. should take care nicely.

The Problem of Fertility Drugs

There has been a considerable amount of publicity and concern throughout much of the world over the so-called population explosion. Efforts to make birth control information available and to find new techniques to prevent unwanted births have been extensive. Statistics have indicated that at the present rate of births, particularly in many of the poorer, undeveloped nations, it is impossible to improve the standards of living and we may be fast outgrowing even the considerable food resources in such countries as the United States which always has had a surplus.

But the figures will have to be revised if a new fertility drug is widely used.

Professor Carl-Axel Gemzell of Sweden has been using a pituitary hormone to treat women who have proved to be sterile. In Sweden, some 50 such women have conceived and borne healthy children. But half of them have had multiple births, an extremely high percentage compared to the average incidence of twins or more. Triplets were the most common and at least two women who used the drug have had quintuplets.

It is estimated that about 10 per cent of woman's sterility is caused by the failure of ovulation and the pituitary drug is aimed at correcting this. However, the doctors using the drug in experimental cases, point out that so far it is difficult to tell how much of the hormone is needed to cause ovulation of one ovum or two or more which raise the chances of multiple births. Presumably the degree of usual hormone lack also has a bearing on each individual case.

Obviously a great deal more research and study on the use of the drug is needed even though some women might prefer to have their complete families all at once. But the problem is not only of increasing population at a time when means are being sought to keep it down. In multiple births, babies are usually born prematurely and their chances of survival are cut.

The pituitary drug is another step in raising the hopes of couples who have been unable to have children. Its existence, like that of birth control information, emphasizes the need for serious planning by married couples. The more resources at man's command, the more responsibility he must have in using them.

The Earth Is Unique

For the romantics who have envisioned life on other planets as comparable with our own, the readings of the pictures of Mars transmitted back from the cameras on Mariner 4 are disappointing. There are no canals visible, no saucers zooming around manned by little, big-eyed people with antenna and not even the ruins of a past civilization destroyed by endless warfare as some moralists have predicted.

Instead, the surface photographed appears much like that of the moon, completely arid and pockmarked with craters. The experts studying and interpreting the pictures do not think the craters are the result of any volcanic action but rather from impact from without, most likely from meteors from the asteroid belt which lies between the orbits of Mars and Jupiter.

There was hope that evidence would be shown of ancient seas and the possibility of at least extremely primitive forms of life. But except for what may be frost inside some of the craters and at the poles, not yet photographed successfully at close range, there is nothing to indicate that Mars ever was very much like the Earth.

There certainly will be other ships equipped with photographic equipment sent toward Mars as the area pictured is relatively small. There is no explanation of the shadows that creep over the planet seasonally and which once were thought to be some sort of vegetation much like that which spreads over the earth in the spring. And perhaps other portions of the planet have a different terrain.

But so far the explorations indicate once more that Earth is the only planet inhabited by thinking creatures and perhaps by any form of life itself.

And this must bring up the inevitable question: Why?

Durkee New Governor of Utah

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Motor for July 27, 1865.

Hon. Charles Durkee, of the State of Wisconsin, has been appointed Governor of Utah (territory) to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of Gov. James Duane Doty (of Neenah and Green Bay).

Mr. Durkee originally was a Free Soil Democrat and was elected to Congress from the First District (Wisconsin) at the first general election held after the admission of the State into the Union (1848), and re-elected the second term in opposition to the regular Democratic candidate.

In the winter of 1855, there being a Republican majority of one in the Legislature, Mr. Durkee was chosen United States Senator for six years. Gov. Doty was a rival candidate.

Without any claim to conspicuous ability, Gov. Durkee possesses many estimable qualities. As a public man of this State, he recommends himself by his integrity of character, his amiability, his thorough and sincere devotion to anti-slavery laws.

25 YEARS AGO

Wednesday, July 31, 1940.

Mrs. Walter Koester, Appleton, was elected president of the Koester family at its reunion at Alicia Park. Others named to office were Mrs. Harold Christen, Appleton, vice president; Mrs. Nathalie Deslache, Green Bay, secretary; and Mrs. Joseph Borchers, Green Bay, chairman of the picnic committee.

Miss Vivian Van Dyke, drum major for Kimberly High School for the past two years, was to perform at the Little Chute Community Band concert at Doyle Park, William Novotny, Oshkosh, was to direct.

Calvin Larson, Foxholm, was chosen one of the 35 boys in Wisconsin to play in the State Future Farmers Band at the state fair. Calvin was a June graduate of Washington High School, New London, rating second in his class in scholarship.

Perhaps Chinese Have Best Idea About Youth

From Toronto Globe & Mail

About 30,000 university students descended on beaches and resorts in the United States recently to celebrate the anniversary of the nation's independence with an orgy of rioting and destruction.

In China, at about the same time, teen-agers were leaving their homes in the cities to spend the rest of their lives working on collective farms in the remote provinces. Some of them went out of idealism; some because the government told them to go.

It is not likely that authorities in the West will adopt the Chinese method of teaching young people to love labor. Still, to the police chiefs in Lake George, New York, and Russell's Point, Ohio, it must seem terribly tempting.

There's Danger Opposing Reds On All Fronts

From Grit

Had we not intervened in the Dominican Republic, another red regime would quite likely have reared its ugly head on this hemisphere. Without our help, South Viet Nam would be overrun by communists; similarly South Korea, and soon. And remember this: In helping to maintain free nations elsewhere we are helping to preserve our own freedom for the present and future.

Yet because there is peril in over dissipation of our strength, we must remain free at all times to make the choice between necessary action and dangerous overextension.

Forecast of Levelling Off in State Budget Demands Is Optimistic

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — There will be many Wisconsin residents, it may be supposed, who hope that the elected politicians ruling the state government who are predicting less severe state-local government financing problems in the future are guessing correctly.

Wyngaard

But a detached view of the outlook in Wisconsin public finance suggests that these optimistic forecasts are self-serving, that their authors are aware of some public skepticism about the inflation of state budgets that has continued without interruption for nearly two decades, and they are voicing what they feel the voters want to hear, rather than what an objective analysis may justify.

There will be few among them, it is safe to suggest, who would willingly stake their seats on the accuracy of their hopeful forecasts as recently published.

OVERVIEW

There is speculation that the explosive increase in the birth rate will level off soon and that the concomitant problems of financing local government basis services such as the schools will be relieved accordingly. That would have an immediate and helpful effect upon state budgeting, which has been strained painfully by local government financial aid demands.

But as there is stabilization in the local school service requirements — aside from the problem of money inflation — there will be a transfer of liability to the state budget directly as the pressure of higher enrollments continues at state-supported programs beyond the high school.

Moreover, there is the factor of an increasing ratio of demand for admission to educational programs beyond the high school. The proportion of high school graduates asking for college opportunities or their equivalent is now equal to the ratio of high school attendance in the time of their fathers. Even now the state is preparing to establish two new four year institutions in the populous southeastern and northeastern districts. Those precedents will magnify pressures for similar accommodation of students elsewhere. The state university system and the University of Wisconsin have blueprinted additional extension centers. The local vocational schools are being expanded in curriculum and enrollment base. As they increasingly gravitate toward area and state-wide services, there will be demands for new state financing that will be hard to deny.

The urgency of institution construction demands shows no sign of leveling off. The state's increasing long term debt will require debt service expenditures of constantly rising amounts in future years, adding a costly new factor to current budget financing for three or four decades ahead. Other expenditure demands will grow in other fields.

INFLATION HEDGE

The optimistically forecasting politicians would have been more candid if they had explained that future budget deficits may be less difficult because of the nature of the tax accommodations they have made lately. The important fact is that the successive revisions of the income tax rates were permanent, and in the nature of the income tax machinery, provide built-in hedges against expenditure inflation. That was what Gov. Knowles meant when he demanded the avoidance of "gimmicks" and "one shot" revenue expedients.

Although the rates have been flattened considerably, the income tax assessment is graduated. Not only is the average man paying several times as much on the first thousand or two of his taxable income as he did 25 years ago, but as his income has advanced he has entered the higher liability brackets. Every time a Wisconsin earner gets a wage or salary boost, the state benefits to a higher percentage degree than does he, through the celebrated "progressivity" principle.

There's No Loyalty in Professional Sports

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

One glaringly obvious reason professional big-league baseball has never appealed to me is illustrated by the imminent removal of the Milwaukee Braves club to Atlanta.

I can understand and admire loyalty to a genuine "home town" team; but how cheap and synthetic and commercial is the loyalty to a group of mercenaries who have been hired merely to wear the name of a strange town across their chests.

Harris

If a city like Milwaukee, for instance, carefully developed its own high school players and grew a big-league team out of its native soil, there would be occasion for esteem and civic support — just as the ancient cities of Greece took huge pride in the accomplishments of their athletes.

But the modern baseball player is a Hessian of the sports arena, playing anywhere for anybody who will pay him a larger salary, transferred every couple of years, and having no real interest or roots in the town he represents. Money, not community endeavor, is the determining factor for a winning team.

I recall a pertinent article in the Christian Science Monitor some years ago, in which the British author pointed out the difference between our artificial baseball "loyalty" and the true regional character of cricket in England.

What would happen in England, he asked, if someone decided to move the Yorkshire team to Buckinghamshire? In the first place, there would be nowhere to take it. "Every man who plays cricket for Yorkshire has to be a Yorkshireman, born and bred. Obviously, you could not transfer Yorks to Bucks because the team would remain Yorks, however hard anyone pretended."

Furthermore, even if members of the team were transported to Bucks, they would have to wait five years in order to become naturalized Buckinghamshiresmen and a quality for the privilege of playing for Bucks. It just wouldn't be cricket otherwise, in any sense of the word.

The big-league baseball teams represent nobody but the owners, who are in the business — and let's not call it a sport — for personal vanity, or promotion, or pecuniary gain, whenever possible. These are all tenable motives, but let them not be confused with communities.

Likewise, what merit is there in a university going out and buying high school football players who represent nothing but their own desire for the best financial deal they can make? The infantile alumni who raucously support such shoddy commercial transactions may know sports, but are oblivious of the basic meaning of sportsmanship.

Demonstrators in South Carolina Ignore Proposals

Small Contingent Marches
On Courthouse in Protest

ALLEDALE, S.C. (AP) — Civil rights demonstrators, ignoring proposals by county officials to speed up the registration of Negro voters, marched again in Allendale today, but their number had dwindled.

About 75 persons, including several white men and women, marched to the Allendale County Courthouse. The police escort was cut in half. The marchers formed a circle in a clearing, sang hymns and said prayers. There were no incidents.

Mass Meeting
Meanwhile, 50 Negro and white integrationists remained in jail at Orangeburg, 35 miles north of here. They were arrested Tuesday after staging a courthouse sit-in to protest that Negro voters were being registered too slowly.

Plans for today's march in Allendale were mapped at a mass meeting of about 300 Negroes Tuesday night. They voted to turn down a four-point compromise set forth by voting officials.

After the meeting, about 40 Negroes staged a midnight march to the courthouse, prayed for about 10 minutes, and marched back to the church where the meeting was held.

There were no incidents. The marchers were surrounded by state troopers. The Negroes are demanding that voter registration books be reopened immediately. South Carolina law requires that they be open one day each month, but local officials can open them on other days if deemed necessary.

59 Register
They were open in Allendale Monday and 59 Negroes registered.

When the books closed, the Negroes, along with white civil rights workers, refused to leave the courthouse, claiming the registration had been deliberately slowed down.

Thirty-seven were arrested. All but 12 have been released on bond.

Representatives of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, headed by the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., met Tuesday with voting officials. It was at this meeting that the county put forth its proposals.

The county officials offered: To allow Negroes waiting in line to register to sit in the court room instead of standing. To employ more clerks in the registration office to speed up the process. To form three lines of prospective voters in the courthouse. To make a study of the process to see how it can be improved.

But the officials refuse to reopen the registration books until next month, as is customary in nonselection years.

The Rev. C. A. Webster Jr. of Ourham, N.C., a white Baptist minister working for the Department of Commerce's Community Relations Service, guaranteed bonds totaling $3,700 Tuesday for 25 of those jailed here.

Voting Rights Bill Is Nearer Final Approval

Bill Provides for Appointment of Federal Registrars

WASHINGTON (AP) — The voting rights bill, providing the strongest means yet for assuring Negroes access to the ballot box, was only a step today from final congressional approval. That step seemed certain to be taken Thursday.

The Senate has the final say and a leader of the opposition said he knows of no plans for any concerted action against it by his fellow Southerners.

"If I thought I could defeat the bill, I'd try," Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., said in an interview.

Debate Shut Off

But Ellender recalled that a two-thirds majority had voted in May to shut off debate on the original version of the bill and only a simple majority now is needed for approval of the compromise version before the Senate.

The House passed the measure Tuesday, 328 to 74, after brief debate in which a few objections contended the measure had been weakened unduly. But sponsors said it is tough and effective and the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., a civil rights leader, was quoted as urging prompt enactment.

The legislation, certain to be signed by President Johnson when it reaches him, provides for special federal examiners to be sent into states and voting districts with less than 50 percent of voters registered to take over registration; suspends literacy tests in Alabama, Alaska, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, South Carolina, Virginia, 34 counties of North Carolina and one county each of Arizona, Idaho and Maine; and directs the attorney general to challenge in court the constitutionality of poll taxes in state and local elections.

8 State Congressmen
Vote With Majority
On Voting Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Eight Wisconsin congressmen voted with the majority Tuesday as the House passed the voting rights bill 328-74.

Republican Reps. John W. Byrnes, Alvin E. O'Konski and Vernon Thomson joined the five Wisconsin Democrats — Robert W. Kastemeier, John A. Race, Henry S. Reuss, Lynn E. Stalbaum and Clement J. Zablocki — in backing the bill.

Rep. Glenn R. Davis, Republican from New Berlin, was the only Wisconsin congressman to vote against the measure. Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R - Wis., was not listed among those voting.

When Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey arrived at a Miami Beach hotel, Tuesday, he was greeted by lines of hotel guests and Urban League members, waiting to shake hands. Humphrey addressed the 55th annual convention of the Urban League now in session in Florida. (AP Wirephoto)

'Paper Tiger' Tested

Escalation of War Began 1 Year Ago

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

The "new phase" of the Viet Nam war is a year old today.

Just a year ago, on Aug. 4, the United States for the first time bombed targets in North Viet Nam and began what the Pentagon would call an escalation process.

What has been the result thus far? Big dangers seem nearer, the frustrations even greater. The path to solution appears as agonizingly elusive as it was before Red North Viet Nam tested the U.S. "paper tiger" and found it had sharp teeth.

Real War

A year ago, the United States had 16,300 troops in South Viet Nam, technically advisers. Now there are 80,000 there, many in active combat. The conflict, in President Johnson's words, has become a real war.

This, actually, is the anniversary of U.S. retaliation against North Vietnamese mainland bases after Communist torpedo boats attacked U.S. warships in the Tonkin Gulf. That began the gradual process by which the United States became deeply committed to war on the Asian mainland.

The United States began regular air attacks on North Vietnamese targets Feb. 7 in an avowed effort to convince the Communists they could not win and to persuade them to go to a conference table.

New Phase

The year of the "new phase" has frayed world nerves. Red China exploded its way into the atomic weapons club. The Soviet Union lost its rambunctious leader, Nikita S. Khrushchev.

South Viet Nam's generals turned on their strongman, Lt. Gen. Nguyen Khanh, and evicted him. The elusive Viet Cong changed tactics and tempo.

Informed opinion has speculated that Peking masterminded the events which led to the turn in the Viet Nam crisis, that Red China prodded Hanoi into the torpedo boat attacks.

The probe came not long after a European journalist quoted a

Indiana Wants To Fine Klan For Omission

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Indiana Secretary of State John D. Bortoff says the state should seek penalties including a $10,000 fine against the Ku Klux Klan for failing to register with his office as an out-of-state corporation.

Bortoff said the Klan has a post office box in nearby Greentown and a resident of the area is acting as an agent for the organization. His remarks Tuesday followed a visit to the state by the head of the United Klans of America, Inc., Robert M. Shelton Jr. of Tuscaloosa, Ala., who boasted the Klan will have enough Indiana strength in a year to take over the governor's chair. The gubernatorial election will be in 1968.

Shelton made a one-day visit Monday to inquire about charges against five men arrested in Greentown for distributing anti-Negro literature. Arrested after the distribution to post office box holders of the Klan newspaper, Fire Cross, they were charged with violating a 1947 state law prohibiting "racketeering in hate."

Employer Killed By Rivet Gun

POMPANO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Construction worker Dale Campbell was atop a one-story house Tuesday attempting to clear a jammed 25-caliber rivet gun when the tool misfired.

The steel rivet struck and killed Campbell's employer, George Alexander, 55, who was standing on the ground. Authorities said the bolt hit Alexander in the heart. They said no charges would be filed.

'Liberty' Monument Bill Awaits Signature

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill to develop Ellis Island as a part of the Statue of Liberty National Monument awaits President Johnson's signature.

Bombers Hit Targets Near Red China

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. jet fighter-bombers flew within 30 miles of Red China today on a bombing mission over North Viet Nam, a U.S. military spokesman said.

It was the closest announced strike ever to the Chinese mainland since the United States began bombing Communist targets in North Viet Nam last Feb. 7.

Four U.S. Air Force F105 Thunderchiefs hit a group of railroad cars about 105 miles northwest of Hanoi near the town of Ba Ho, the spokesman said. He reported all returned safely.

Pilots said they dropped nine tons of bombs on the targets and fired 4,000 20 mm cannon shells, damaging 11 box cars. The closest previous raids to the Chinese border were announced Aug. 1 and July 22 when U.S. warplanes struck the Yen Bai railroad yards, 41 miles away.

Hearing Set on Fluid Milk Price

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department has set its public hearing to consider proposed increases in minimum prices for fluid milk in Wisconsin and five other states for Sept. 15 in Chicago.

The hearing will gather testimony on possible revision of federal milk order regulating 12 western markets affecting dairy production totals that they per Wisconsin, Illinois, Iowa, Indiana, Missouri and Arkansas.

West German Trial

Wife of Archaeologist Charged as Israeli Spy

CAIRO (AP) — The prosecution in the spy trial of three West Germans charged today Israeli intelligence, told him that Mrs. Walter had been found "spying" in the expert's bedroom.

Same Employer
Lotz realized that the woman was working for the same Israeli organization that employed him to collect information on the German experts. He sent a message by a secret radio, concealed in a set of bathroom scales, protesting that Mrs. Walter was abusing her activities and demanding that she be stopped.

The message was sent on June 17, 1964, and the next day Mrs. Walter received instructions and left Egypt. Lotz faces a possible death sentence on 10 charges of espionage for Israel and terrorism against Germans working in Egypt's military industries. His wife is charged with complicity and a West German business man, Franz Wilhelm Kiesel, is on trial with them.

Proposal Includes Plan To Increase Armed Forces By About 340,000 Men

By EDWIN B. HAAKINSON
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration disclosed plans today to increase $17 billion as an "Emergency Fund, Southeast Asia."

Under the request the money would be made available to the secretary of defense "upon determination by the President that such action is necessary in connection with military activities in Southeast Asia."

Except for the amount, the request was a duplicate of a $700-million emergency fund asked by the President on May 7 and rushed through Congress in two days.

Manpower Buildup
Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., has said that extra funds for

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara outlined the proposed manpower buildup in testimony to a closed Senate appropriations hearing.

McNamara told the senators that the Communist Viet Cong now hold the initiative in Viet Nam.

But he predicted that South Viet Nam, with the aid of additional U.S. fighting forces, will win in the long, hard pull ahead. Both the President and his defense secretary asked blanket authority for spending the new $1.7 billion emergency funds. McNamara made it clear that much larger detailed requirements will be waiting for the new session of Congress in January.

340,000 Increased
The 340,000 increase in the armed forces proposed by McNamara would lift them to 2,980,000 men by next June 30.

In his original budget proposal for this fiscal year McNamara recommended a year-end strength for the army of 953,000, now lifted by 235,000; the Navy up 35,000 from 685,000; Marines up 30,000 from 193,000 and the Air Force up 4,000 from 89,000.

Actual strength as of June 3 this year, the latest report by the Pentagon, totaled 2,653,861. That was composed of 969,127

July Auto Sales Eclipse Record Of Previous Year

General Motors Corp. dealers accounted for 52.5 per cent of the market during the month, the statistical agency said, while Ford Motor Co. sold 26.9 per cent, Chrysler Corp. 16.6, American Motors Corp. 3.9 and Studebaker 0.1.

Ward's said that July sales were so close to factory production totals that they per Wisconsin, Illinois, Iowa, Indiana, Missouri and Arkansas.

Italian Police Seek Aid From America's FBI

Agency Spokesman Says 'No Authority For Such Arrests'

WASHINGTON (AP) — FBI help is reportedly being sought in an Italian crackdown on alleged Mafia and Cosa Nostra leaders but the bureau says its hands are tied.

An FBI spokesman said Tuesday that the agency has "no authority whatsoever" to make such arrests.

Italian police arrested 10 alleged gang leaders Monday in a series of predawn raids extending from northern Italy to eastern Sicily.

And sources in Palermo, Sicily, said four men are still free. All are believed to be in the United States.

FBI Help
The sources said Palermo police were contacting the FBI for help in completing the roundup.

A Justice Department spokesman in Washington said the U.S.-Italian extradition treaty makes no provision for such action.

He said the Italian government must seek authority from the State Department to let Italian representatives go to court in this country to seek a

Draft Ambitious Schedule for Legislative Unit

Democrats Now Dominate Joint Assembly Council

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — The Democratic leadership of the Wisconsin assembly has drafted an ambitious schedule of interim studies for the joint Legislative Council when the 1965 legislature finally adjourns next fall.

Assemblymen David Obey of Wausau and Frank Nikolay of Abbotsford, the latter the leader of the legislature's lower house Democratic majority, are the sponsors of a resolution that would direct the Council to explore an unusually large number of current problem fields and emerging state policy issues.

Numerical Contract

Because of their control of the assembly, the Democrats will have numerical control of the interim study organization when it begins its work of preparing recommendations for the legislature of 1967.

The Obey-Nikolay plan is to explore the extension of the programs of the public schools into 14 grades, apparently a reference to the plan to establish an area vocational school program that would embrace all of the geographical area and population of the state.

Other suggested investigations:

Gas Rates Cut For Marathon, Manitowoc

MADISON (AP)—The Public Service Commission reported Tuesday the Wisconsin Fuel and Light Co. of Manitowoc will reduce annual natural gas rates by $71,800, effective Friday.

In addition, about $29,800 will be refunded to the 18,000 customers in Manitowoc and Marathon counties. The refund, to be given through a 5 per cent credit on August to November bills, resulted from a reduction in rates charged by the pipeline company serving the utility.

Communities served by the utility are Manitowoc, Francis Creek, Rockwood, Whitelaw and Cleveland in Manitowoc County, and Wausau, Brokaw, Schofield, Rothschild, Mosinee, Marathon and Edgar in Marathon County.

The commission also authorized General Telephone Co. of Wisconsin, Madison, to discontinue its urban four-party service at Maiden Rock in Pierce County.

—The state corrupt practices act, governing the use of money in elections and the need for its modernization.

—The revision needs of the state children's code, rewritten several years ago, but evidently in need of further review in the opinion of some critics.

—The adequacy of medical care, including the availability of physicians and dentists, in the small towns and rural districts of the state.

Experts Survey River to Study Attempts to Halt Pollution

Seven scientists and engineers today began a two-day survey of the Flambeau River at Park Falls to determine how much the stepped-up spent liquor collection system and new liquor evaporator plant at the Flambeau Paper Co. sulphite mill are improving oxygen conditions in the river.

The survey is being sponsored by Pollution, Sulphite Pulp figures obtained in previous Manufacturers' Research League and the paper firm. The technical experts are measuring present dissolved oxygen and biochemical oxygen demand for comparison with the years.

A new installation at the Flambeau mill boils away excess water from all collectible spent sulphite liquor produced in the mill's pulping operation. The concentrate is sold to other industries for use as a chemical raw material.

DON'T YOU READ BEFORE YOU BUY?

Most people do. For nothing can tell you as much about a product as a message in print. Print shows colors best. Styles, too. And comparative prices, special uses, designs, shapes. Shows them as no other medium can. That's why your customers—and your competitor's customers—look to print when they're really ready to buy. If people can paint with your product, sit on it, eat it, serve it to company, walk on it, wear it, freeze foods in it, or drive it . . . better put it in print. Print makes sense, because print makes sales.

5-Day Hunt for Guerrillas Fails for Many Reasons

Chain Reaction of Mistakes Hexed Mission Before It Got Underway

EDITOR'S NOTE: U.S. forces carried out a big, five-day hunt over the weekend for a Viet Cong battalion in a jungle area southeast of Saigon. Associated Press correspondents and photographers covered all phases of the operation. In this dispatch AP newsman Peter Arnett tells of the meager results and some of the reasons.

By PETER ARNETT

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — In a war where the only real index of success is the number of enemy killed or captured, the results were miserably.

Nearly 2,000 highly trained U.S. paratroopers beat the scrubby jungles around a hill outcropping southeast of Saigon for five days.

The largest concentration of artillery yet gathered in the Viet Nam war covered them. Armored vehicles roared near.

Thirty B52 jet bombers flew from Okinawa to attack a suspected Viet Cong headquarters. Dozens of jet fighters flew in support for the five days. A South Vietnamese ground force was available.

The object of all this activity was a Viet Cong battalion supposed to be in the area. It was never found.

At last count, fewer than 10 Viet Cong had been seen. Three of these were killed and three captured along with two rifles.

Not even a series of similar operations launched in the past by South Vietnamese military planners, and roundly criticized by U.S. advisers, had so little result.

This is the fourth such operation staged in the past two months by U.S. military planners in Viet Nam.

Many U.S. observers feel that the U.S. high command may be embarked on a strategy that brought failure to Vietnamese forces before and could bring failure to U.S. forces now.

Debate Strategy

If the basic strategy can be debated, the implementation as applied to the operation that ended Monday cannot.

There appeared to be a chain reaction of mistakes that made success virtually impossible even before the operation got under way fully.

Because of the elaborate command structure in South Viet Nam, operational plans had to be disclosed to a wide circle of people nearly a week before it began.

Viet Nam is notorious for the leakage of operational plans. Many details of this big paratrooper operation were reportedly known to the district chief of the operational area days earlier. This nullified the element of surprise.

Associated Press photographer Horst Faas drove down 40 miles of highway with the artillery pieces last Wednesday, 24 hours before the troops came in.

The spouts of the artillery were pointed right into the operational area. The message was probably not lost on Viet Cong agents.

If it was, they would have been enlightened by police who stopped traffic on the road hours before the convoy passed. Everyone knew the Americans were coming. Kids waved joyfully.

Local district troops, usually infiltrated by the Viet Cong, were securing the firing zone.

Warned Viet Cong

Later that day, as the artillery fired practice rounds to zero in on expected targets, thereby driving underground any Viet Cong who were there, eight C130 transports flew supplies into nearby Vung Tau.

Even a blind man would have known something big was to happen.

Eventually, on Thursday, it did.

One hundred helicopters began streaming into the battle area. They circled while awaiting the B52 bombers. These arrived, dropped their bombs, and departed.

Air Force jets arrived to soften up the troop landing zones.

Then the troops were at last on the ground. But they moved only 800 yards that day through the tangled jungle. There were two battalions on the ground from the U.S. Army's 173rd Airborne Brigade.

Meanwhile, the artillery and Air Force were at work, hammering a "free bombing zone" that included a Buddhist monastery. Twenty monks were injured.

Photographer Henri Huet spent four days with one U.S. paratrooper company. His unit did not move at night.

His company didn't fire a shot in anger in the five days.

But they took five casualties, all from an artillery shell fired at the Viet Cong from seven miles away. It fell short into the paratrooper lines.

Years for Action

One paratrooper, frustrated by the days of walking without any contact with the enemy, said: "I didn't like that Viet Cong 50-caliber machine gun firing at me in Zone D a couple of weeks ago. But I'm yearning for action now. It's been a waste of time here so far."

This correspondent flew in with the 1st Division battalion that secured the artillery pieces on Friday.

He was asked for advice on possible enemy locations in the area. Just five miles down the road was a U.S. advisory outfit staffed with Americans who had been in the region for months. For some reason or other they were not available to brief the arriving troops on the area they knew so well.

"Dink is so wonderful, so smart, so unlike anyone else in my life!"

When two days of the operation had passed without contact, it became obvious that the Viet Cong was not interested in fighting.

There was very little evidence that the Viet Cong had been there in months. Photographer

Huet walked through the jungled area devastated by the B52's bombs.

The jungle was shattered, but there was no sign of anyone dead. There were tunnels in the region, but none apparently had been hit by the B52s.

The Viet Cong were around somewhere.

Two Associated Press men, writer Hugh Mulligan and photographer Sam Jones, found the main highway lined with Viet Cong Bags when they drove to the operational command post Saturday.

Flags Removed

A patrol was sent up the road to investigate. By then the paper flags had been removed mysteriously.

By Monday morning, when the helicopters came in to lift them out, the paratroopers were tired and depressed.

"If our company commanders have anything to do with it, this is the last operation of this kind we'll have," a young officer said.

Many officers would like to discard the unwieldy, mammoth operations of this kind for smaller ones. One battalion could be moved in, given 36 hours to operate, and then be replaced by another fresh one.

Other officers feel that the paratroopers should be used only as a reaction force. They could be thrown into action when the Viet Cong attacks a Vietnamese unit. This way they could guarantee contact.

However, the paratroopers themselves have little say in the matter. The U.S. high command in Saigon handles operational tactics.

The use of scores of helicopters in such an operation throws plans out of gear in other areas. To lift the paratroopers into action last week the whole of the Mekong delta was virtually denuded of helicopters. Planned operations in other areas had to be canceled.

The problems associated with the operation just completed have been well displayed before. The South Vietnamese high command over the years has launched at least 30 similar operations with similar results.

Escalation of War Began 1 Year Ago

high-ranking Chinese — probably Vice Premier Chen Yi — as saying “a war in Southeast Asia would not be so bad after all” and implying that Red China could throw millions of men into such a conflict in any event, the Tonkin Gulf attack brought swift retaliation.

“No Wider War”

“We seek no wider war,” declared President Johnson. But the United States, in the words of Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara, would take “the precaution of moving substantial military reinforcements to Southeast Asia.”

Russian seemed to be caught off guard and alarmed. While Peking threatened, Moscow refrained from promising all-out support to Hanoi.

If Red China had a hand in the test of the U.S. “paper tiger,” it could have been regarded as just as much a challenge to Moscow and Khrushchev as it was to the United States. Indeed, it may have been a factor in Khrushchev’s fall two months later. He had been caught in the middle. Whatever he did would stand the chance of being wrong — if he risked a showdown with the United States over the development, or if he failed to come to the aid of a fellow Communist regime under military attack.

Soviet reaction was slow. Moscow seemed to do the minimum in support of Hanoi, obviously too little to avert Peking’s caustic attacks on “the modern revisionists of the Kremlin.”

But Red China was doing more talking than acting. It had turned violent verbal abuse on the United States and Moscow. It cried that the Americans had “gone over the brink of war” and incurred “a debt of blood, which must be paid.” It was reported strengthening garrisons on the Vietnamese border and soup up the training of its 30 million or so militia. But still it did nothing directly.

Red China’s big contribution throughout the year was to block efforts at negotiations and to accuse the Soviet Union of cooperating with the U.S. imperialists in a peace talks swindle.

Evidently, for all their ominous talk, the Chinese felt that while the United States expanded riches and men in a frustrated jungle war, Peking could afford to wait.

$1.7 Billion Additional Asked for Viet Nam

Viet Nam should be included in the massive annual defense money bill, now pending in the Senate committee. This bill included slightly over $45 billion as approved by the House.

Even before the formal request arrived there were indications some senators favor a still larger total.

“I think the Congress wants to be certain they have enough money,” Sen. Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts, the senior Republican member of the Senate Armed Services and Appropriations Committees, said in an interview.

Viet Nam meanwhile occupied official Washington on several other fronts:

— Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, the outgoing U.S. ambassador to South Viet Nam, had a separate appointment with Johnson.

— The Defense Department denied any plan to divert troops from Europe to Viet Nam and said specifically reports of a shift of 7th Army units after the West German elections are not true.

War Declared

Johnson said Tuesday “America wins the wars that she undertakes” and added this country has declared war, not only on domestic problems like ignorance and poverty, but also “on tyranny and aggression.”

But he also promised to continue to work for a peaceful settlement in Viet Nam, adding, “If we do that we’ll come home tomorrow.”

The President spoke on the White House lawn to members of the International Platform Association, a group describing itself as a trade association for lecturers. It has about 4,800 members with headquarters in Cleveland, Ohio.

Criticism of U. S.

Johnson remarked that he heard criticism of U.S. air strikes against targets in North Viet Nam, but little criticism of the Viet Nam.

“The point I want to make is why — oh, why — don’t people of this country try to maintain her independence against aggression for the first season?” he said.

“We don’t want anything except to help those people do what we agreed to do.”

Neighborhood Corps Makes 300,000 Jobs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The one-third of the disadvantaged number of jobs created by the neighborhood youth corps were able to continue their education nearly 300,000 in the first half of this year.

The White House, announcing the figure Tuesday, said about 300,000 of the disadvantaged youth corps were able to continue their education nearly 300,000 in the first half of this year.

More U. S. Ground Forces May End Guerrilla Advance

Military Officials Think Planned Viet Cong Monsoon Drive Died

HONOLULU, Hawaii (AP) — High American military officials believe the introduction of more U.S. ground forces coupled with continuous air strikes on North Viet Nam may prevent a Communist takeover of South Viet Nam.

While total victory may never be achieved, they suspect a milestone will have passed once the monsoon season, which favors guerrilla operations, ends about the middle of next month.

An expected Viet Cong monsoon offensive more or less fizzled out. And more American GI’s will be in South Viet Nam and ready to take the offensive about the time the rainy season ends.

The officials believe Viet Cong momentum has been lost because of high casualty rates in recent months.

A big factor, they say, is the continuous air offensive against supply targets and staging areas in North Viet Nam.

This veiled U.S. optimism follows a high-level Viet Nam conference upon the Communists, officers in Honolulu, where top military men tackled details of the logistic problems involved in beefing up U.S. ground forces in Viet Nam.

ized a troop increase to 125,000 men with the possibility that more will be made available if necessary. About 75,000 U.S. troops are in South Viet Nam now.

Staff members from the Saigon command and the Pentagon won’t finish the paperwork until the end of the week, officials say.

Wheeler Conference

Principals involved in Monday’s conference were Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff; Adm. U.S. Grant Sharp, Pacific commander, and Gen. William C. Westmoreland, U.S. commander in Viet Nam.

The Viet Cong, since the major attack on Dong Xoai more than a month ago, has been relatively inactive.

The presence of more American troops in South Viet Nam already has had a sobering effect on the Communists, officials say, the Viet Cong is having trouble getting to see large units of GI’s go into fresh supplies. Even getting combat produce to market in North Viet Namers Nam is becoming a problem, they say.

While the Viet Cong controls 60 per cent of South Viet Nam, much of this is wasteland and mountains. More important is the Communist control of about 35 per cent of the country’s people.

American officials are cautious about saying 125,000 Americans will turn the corner in the war.

U.S. sources say it may be next to impossible to seal off the Viet Nam border and keep Communist arms from filtering in from Hanoi.

But the Viet Cong coastal lifeline is rapidly being broken up by U.S. Navy and Coast Guard patrol ships. Most Communist military supplies come in by water and this, the U.S. is confident, can be reduced.

Chains of Command

Parallel chains of command are being worked out between Viet Nam and American military leaders in Saigon. It is expected that Vietnamese soldiers may fight under U.S. commanders, and the reverse may be true just as it was when American “advisers” operated with large government forces. But the United States doesn’t expect to see large units of GI’s go into combat with Vietnamese commanders.

warrant for the arrest of the four.

Then, it would have to be determined whether the crimes with which they are charged are covered by the extradition treaty.

No Request

A State Department official said the necessary request had not been received from the Italian government.

Among those arrested in Italy were Giuseppe Genco Russo, 72, described by police as head of the Mafia.

Three of the four still sought by Italian police are U.S. citizens.

Authorities identified them as Joseph Cerrito, 54, of Los Gatos, Calif., and Santo Sorge, 57, and Gaetano Russo, 73, both of New York.

The fourth is Gaspare Maggaddino, 57, believed to have relatives in Buffalo, N.Y.

Warrants against the 14 accuse them of associating to commit crime, a charge that could lead to three to seven years in prison.

Police said the charge stemmed from a variety of activities, including the smuggling of narcotics, tobacco and currency.

Under Italian law, an investigating judge now will decide whether to indict the 14 or drop the charges. While he is deliberating the men must remain in jail.

Daily Attendance Hits Peak at Fair

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York World’s Fair Tuesday counted 181,234 customers, the best weekday attendance of the 1965 season.

The top attendance of the fair’s two seasons was 265,568 on Memorial Day, 1965.

The independence against aggression mark for the first season?” he said.

“We don’t want an inch of territory,” Johnson continued. “We don’t want a single base year ago, after 105 days, the turnout was 15,749,510 admissions.

“We don’t want anything except to help those people do what we agreed to do.”

Excise Cut May Save Shoppers $2 Million

WASHINGTON — Residents of a four-county Fox Valley area will save more than $2 million this year because of the reduction in excise taxes, experts estimate.

The savings are expected to reach almost $6 million per year in the area by the fourth year, when excise taxes will be $4.6 billion lower than they are now.

Outagamie, Winnebago, Waupaca and Calumet counties paid over $18 million in Federal excise taxes in 1964, part of a $194 million state total.

Reductions this year are expected to add $1.75 billion to the nation's pocketbooks, with an additional $1.7 billion slashed from taxes next year.

Within four years, excise taxes in the United States will be $4.6 billion lower than now, and cuts for the average family in the area will range from $80 to $80.

Winnebago County families will gain the greatest savings, four years from now, according to experts. Savings of an estimated $2,657,000 in the county will average out to $81 per family unit.

Calumet County family units will average a savings of $67, with the county total coming to $413,000 that year. Experts estimate Waupaca County savings will total $639,000, with the total per family coming to $61.

The $18 million total collected in excise taxes from the four counties in 1964 came mainly from Winnebago and Outagamie counties.

Funds by Counties

Winnebago residents paid $8,061,000 in 1964, while Outagamie citizens handed over funds for excise taxes amounting to $6,910,000. Waupaca County had a $1,937,000 total, while Calumet County residents paid $1,251,000.

Savings in the first year of the excise reduction program will be $1,006,000 in Winnebago County; $864,000 in Outagamie County; $242,000 in Waupaca County, and $186,000 in Calumet County.

The amount that persons save is directly related to amount spent for goods and services. Excise taxes in the past were on telephone services, movie tickets, electric light bulbs, leather goods, cigarettes, gasoline, refrigerators, beauty products, watches and numerous other items.

The figures cited previously are only estimates. They were made with the assumption that merchants and manufacturers will pass on to the consumer the full benefit of the cuts.

If they do so they will be carrying out the intent of the legislation, which is to eliminate levies that are burdensome and often discriminatory and to stimulate the economy by increasing the disposable income of consumers.
